HAMMOCK LUXURY.

The Coiled Springs Under the Mattress Yield Ideal Rest.

Why not secure the maximum of comfort from a hammock during the summer afternoons and evenings—it will be money well spent. Study the picture below for a moment. Note that there are springs beneath the top covering and that every curve of the body fits naturally thereon, whatever position you take.

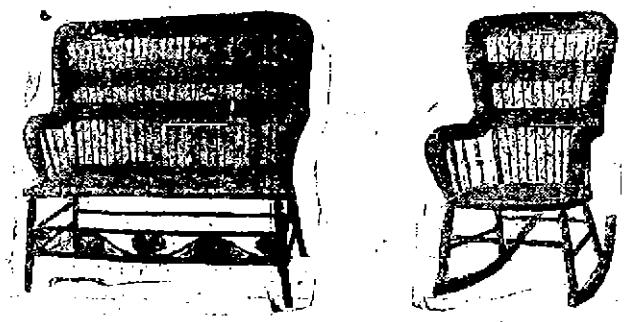

Observe also, please, the innovation of two spacious pockets at the foot for magazines, books and papers. Finally imagine the ideal comfort that such a Hammock promises to the tired body and brain. You would pay twice as much for a good bed yet that is exactly what you get when you secure the Hammock in question and pay therefore but $13.50
Without springs $7.50

DISCHARGES DUTIES BEHIND THE BARS.

Charge Against Mayor of Lawrence a Misdemeanor.

Official to Fight Case Through the Highest Courts.

LAWRENCE, Mass., July 14.—With the executive chamber of this city a cell in the Essex County jail here, Mayor William P. White, who was sentenced yesterday by Judge Schofield of the superior court in Salem, to three years in prison and to pay a fine of $1,000, for alleged conspiracy to bribe, continued today to discharge his official duties as the mayor of Lawrence behind the bars. Mayor White stated today that his attorney, Michael Sullivan of Salem, will immediately file exceptions and that he will fight the case through the highest courts in the country. His three aides, former Alderman Matthew Burns, George Smart, a tinsmith, and Samuel Kress, a carriage smith, who were convicted and sentenced with the mayor on charges of conspiracy to bribe certain aldermen, in an attempt to remove Fire Chief James A. Hamilton, were also confined in the Essex county jail.

Attorneys here declare that Mayor White cannot be removed and back their statements by quoting Article 8, Section 2, of the constitution of Massachusetts, which says that a man not convicted of a felony and not sentenced to states prison is not impeachable. They contend that the charge on which he was sentenced was a misdemeanor. Others state, however, that he will be unable to perform his duties as mayor under those conditions and that the office of the mayor shall be declared vacant.

The mayor was convicted of conspiring to obtain the confirmation by the board of aldermen of his appointment of James A. Hamilton as chief of the Lawrence fire department, and, later, to obtain his removal from office.

With the conviction of the mayor and three other prominent citizens after a trial which lasted two weeks, and the sentence of the executive and two of his supporters to terms behind the bars, the political scandals which have stirred the city of Lawrence for many months reached a sensational stage. Mayor White, on his pledges to give to the city a clean administration and to correct many alleged abuses and abolish graft, heading a "reform" ticket, was elected about two years ago by the largest majority in the history of the city. He was re-elected last year.

The jury returned its verdict after being out a little more than four hours. Samuel Kress was sentenced to two and one half years imprisonment; Matthew Burns, to two years, and George D. Smart to a year and a half. Ernest Drue, also convicted, was not sentenced, his case being placed on file because he had given evidence for the prosecution. Thomas Keegan, also indicted in the same case, was found not guilty.

Mayor White made an impassioned address to the court, declaring that he had been innocent of any wrong intention. Burns spoke in a similar vein, while the other convicted men made no statement.

M. L. Sullivan, the attorney representing Mayor White, argued for a new trial, but the motion was denied by Judge Schofield, who then imposed sentence.

Kress, one of the men convicted, has previously been found guilty of attempted bribery in connection with the same case, but has not yet been sentenced.

Mayor White sent the appointment of Hamilton to the board of aldermen about a year and a half ago. The appointment was quickly confirmed. Some time afterward charges were made against Hamilton and he is now under indictment for alleged bribery in obtaining confirmation of his appointment.

Charges of bribery began to come thick and fast in Lawrence, and at length it was alleged that Mayor White had turned against his appointee and was conspiring unlawfully to have him removed. The trial of Kress on the attempted bribery charge followed, and then the trial ending today, in which the mayor and his co-defendants were charged with conspiracy to bribe and conspiracy to oust Hamilton. It is expected that Hamilton will be placed on trial in September. He still holds his position as fire chief.

WILL TALK OVER SITUATION.

Taft Anxious to Prevent Floods From the Colorado Imperial Valley.

BEVERLY, Mass., July 14.—An announcement was made at the executive offices today that President Taft is desirous of formulating plans to prevent the devastation of the Imperial valley in California, by floods from the Colorado river. The President will see W. H. Holliburd, receiver of the California Development Company at the Evans cottage at Burges Point Saturday, and will talk over the situation in the Imperial valley and listen to Mr. Holliburd's suggestions. Reclamation and army engineers are expected to call at Beverly shortly to tell the President what they know about the Colorado river. Former Governor Curtiss Guild Jr., of Mass. is expected here tomorrow. He has been appointed special ambassador to the centennial celebration of Mexico, marking the founding of that republic.

IN CONTEMPT OF COURT.

George Fred Williams, Massachusetts Lawyer, So Adjudged.

PROVIDENCE, July 14.—George Fred Williams, the Massachusetts lawyer and former political leader, was adjudged in contempt of court by Judge William H. Sweetland of the supreme court for failing to obey a decree of the probate court ten years ago. The petitioner is Joseph U. Starkweather, a well known business man of this city, who alleges that Williams, acting as executor under the will of his mother, distributed the estate left by his father, James O., among her people, instead of turning it over to their children as provided in her husband's will. February 21, 1900, Williams was ordered to return the property, but the petitioner claims has never done so. The court now holds him in contempt unless he returns the sum of $2,865, with interest for ten years, and the household property, within 10 days.

CASE SIMILAR TO CHARLTON MURDER.

Dr. Crippen Wanted for Killing His Wife in London.

American Authorities to Aid in Search for Dentist.

LONDON, July 14.—Scotland yard is engaged with the murder of an American woman and today cabled the police of the United States, requesting the arrest of the woman's husband, Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen, also an American, who is believed to have sailed for New York, Saturday last.

The case is strikingly similar to that of the Charlton murder at Lake Como, Italy. Both women were American actresses who left their homes to meet death by violence in a foreign land, and in each instance the police pursued the American husband to the shores of his native land. Porter Charlton was arrested in Hoboken, N. J., but in the absence of an extradition treaty between the United States and Italy, specifically providing for the return to either country of a citizen of the other country who has committed a crime abroad, may go free. In the present case no such complications are probable as the British-American extradition treaty leaves no loop hole of which a suspected criminal may take advantage. The London police have made a definite charge against Dr. Crippen and propose to get him with the co-operation of the American authorities.

Dr. Crippen, who is a dentist and 50 years old, has made his home for some time at 39 Hill Drop, Crescent, North London. Some time ago his wife, Belle Elmore, a vaudeville actress and treasurer of the Music Hall Artists' Guild, disappeared, and subsequently a notice of her death appeared in the local papers. The fact of her demise was generally credited, but there was more or less gossip among the woman's friends and this finally reached the ears of the police. The latter visited Dr. Crippen and the interview appeared to be satisfactory.

ALL STEAMERS WATCHED.

New York Police on Look Out for Arrival of Dr. Crippen.

NEW YORK, July 14.—New York's police authorities will keep a close watch on all incoming trans-Atlantic liners in the hope of apprehending Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen. The five vessels whose passengers will be scrutinized are the Lusitania, from Liverpool, St. Paul from Southampton, Cedric, from Liverpool, Minnetonka, from London and the Kroonland, from Antwerp, touching at Dover. Other vessels upon which Dr. Crippen might have sailed are the Columbia sailing from Glasgow, Saturday and La Lorraine, sailing from Havre the same day. First to arrive will be the Lusitania, due tonight or Friday morning. The St. Paul and La Lorraine are due Saturday, the Cedric Sunday or Saturday, and the Kroonland, Minnetonka and Columbia Sunday or Monday.

BUCKET SHOP MEN AGAIN INDICTED.

Three Plead Not Guilty to Secret Presentments.

Charged With Larceny And Conspiracy to Steal.

BOSTON, July 14.—Arthur B. Sederquist, Harry F. Curtis, and John E. Barry, of the firm of Sederquist, Barry & Co., of New York and Boston, now defunct, pleaded not guilty to three secret indictments when they appeared before Judge De Courcy in the superior criminal court today. The three indictments charged larceny in 120 counts, of $500,000, the keeping of a bucket shop, and conspiracy to steal.

Following their pleading not guilty the three defendants were held in $20,000 bail each, for hearing in the early fall. Bail was furnished. The three men, with Charles H. Rollins, a former member of the governor's council and a member of the firm of Sederquist, Barry & Co., were in court here October 4 last, on similar indictments. Assistant District Attorney Webber recently discovered they had not been asked to plead to the indictment. Accordingly the secret indictment were issued. In addition to the indictment of Sederquist, Curtis and Barry, D. Eustace Bigelow and Perley L. Freeman, both in the brokerage business in New York, were also indicted on the same number of counts.

Sederquist, Barry & Co., had many offices scattered over New England and also in New York state and when that company went into bankruptcy, last year, it was alleged the company had secured many million dollars illegally. Curtis, who was at one time a member of the firm of Sederquist, Barry & Co., left this city for New York, where he formed a partnership with Freeman, known as Curtis & Freeman. In January of last year the name of the firm was changed to that of Freeman & Rollins Co. Both of the New York firms went into bankruptcy.

HELD FOR EXTRADITION.

Members of New York Firm Connected With Chain of Bucket Shops.

NEW YORK, July 14.—United States Commissioner Shields today held for extradition to Washington, D. C., Edward S. Boggs, Richard E. Preusser, Leo Mayer, and Robert A. Guy, members of the firm of E. S. Boggs & Co., with offices in this city and accused of being connected with the operating of a chain of bucket shops.

CHARGED WITH PERJURY.

NEW YORK, July 14.—Louis A. Celia, the wealthy St. Louis man who is accused of having operated a bucket shop in Washington, was today placed under arrest by United States Marshal Henkel, on a charge of perjury.

ELABORATE PROGRAM PLANNED.

President-Elect Fonseca of Brazil to be Highly Entertained.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Probably the most elaborate program ever prepared for the entertainment, in the United States, of a dignitary from South America is being arranged for president-elect Hermes Fonseca of Brazil. From the time he lands in New York August 5, until his departure September 2, he will be kept on the go, seeing the sights of America and being entertained with much display.

Chargo Silva of the Brazilian embassy in the United States is arranging, at the State Department, for the presentation of General Fonseca to President Taft at Beverly. After that formality the president-elect of Brazil will visit Valley Forge, Pa., to meet Secretary Knox. Receptions in honor of the distinguished visitor are being planned at Philadelphia, Boston and Washington. Similar functions may await him when he visits Pittsburg and Chicago. The Brazilian will be taken to West Point and Annapolis to inspect the schools there. He also will visit the most important shipbuilding yards in the east.

PERU AND ECUADOR QUESTION.

Plan Being Made for Legations and Consulates to Apologize.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—How best to arrange for Peru and Ecuador to apologize to one another for the looting of their respective legations and consulates, as a result of the boundary dispute last spring, is one of the problems that has called the representatives of the negotiating nations, the United States, Brazil and Argentine republic into conference at Washington. So much was learned today, the second day of the conference.

SPECIAL JURY CALLED.

Evidence in Beef Trust and Oleomargarine Cases to be Presented.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—William S. Kenyon, assistant to the Attorney General, will arrive in Chicago today, where he will assist the officials of the district attorney's office in the presentation to the jury of evidence in the so-called Beef Trust and Oleomargarine fraud cases. A special grand jury called by Judge Landis meets today for the purpose.

FIGURES NOT HIGH.

Unoccupied Lots Bring Much the Better Prices.

Some Surprises and a Low Total at the Mann Avenue Bush Estate Sale.

The third section of the Bush estate went under the hammer Tuesday afternoon, when quite a party enjoyed the pleasant grounds of the homestead on Mann avenue and rested beneath the shady trees. Few of the regular seekers for real estate bargains were heard in the bidding and several prominent ones were conspicuous by their absence. In their stead were a number who desired home lots in that vicinity, and at times there was quite spirited bidding.

It would seem as if the land unencumbered with structures brought better value than that which was improved. That was particularly so with the house on Ayrault street, which is a substantial modern structure, with which was plotted a good piece of land. This lot and house brought about the rate for which a vacant lot on Mann avenue sold. The stable sold for more than a third of the cost of the dwelling. The dwelling was erected as a summer cottage for renting purposes and is finely finished. The homestead house on Mann avenue seems to have sold for a respectable price, considering the small amount of land it carried.

The total of the afternoon sale was $21,695, while the asking price a while since is reported to have been $35,000. The day's sales amounted to $41,420, but some of the West Broadway properties brought less than offers which had been made for them. It is even said that the piece of Broadway property, below Marlborough street, sold recently at private sale, realized considerably less than had been a standing offer for it for some time. Some who have done some figuring on the afternoon sales were surprised to find that the land price was brought down to 20 cents a foot, which is considered very low for that section.

The homestead was sold first, then the Ayrault Street house, next the stable, and then the vacant lots. The small parcels on the little court through the property were offered with the privilege of others at the same price. The Speeder plan of offering the entire plot after the individual bidding was not attempted. The detail of the selling is as follows:

Mann avenue

Lot 11—Southwest, 65 feet, on land of Bigalke; northwest, 135.3 feet, on lots 5, 7 and 9; northwest, 65 feet, on Ayrault street, and southeast 135.8 feet, on land of Elizabeth Robinson, containing cottage. Sold to Theodore Bigalke, for $6,035.

THUNDER THREATENED.

Thunder squalls were promised for this afternoon and at 2:30 it certainly looked as though one were here. The northwest sky darkened until artificial light was needed indoors, the wind shifted from southwest and northwest, and great black clouds rolled. It appeared at 3 as though that was all there was to it, a shift of wind. Still it has looked and felt like rain and it would not be at all surprising if rain comes in some form, either a plain shower or a thunder shower.

THE NEW BAILEY CASE TRIAL.

Judge Reviews the Matter and Emphasizes Grave Danger of Use of Liquors by Jurors.

In his opinion remitting the case of Elizabeth Underwood et. als. vs. the Old Colony Street Railway Company to the superior court for a new trial, Justice Johnson of the supreme court says:

"At the close of the second day of the trial, the court adjourned over until the next afternoon, which was a Tuesday. Before the trial was resumed, counsel for the railroad company called the attention of Judge Baker to the fact that one of the jurors, Louis S. Sisson, had been intoxicated the day before while testimony was being taken, and was then intoxicated and not in a fit condition to serve upon the jury, and that he had, during Tuesday, expressed opinions hostile to the defendant, which made him an unfit juror to sit in the case, and had otherwise misconducted himself. The trial justice denied the defendant's motion for a continuance of the case.

"The defendant filed 36 affidavits in support of the contention that a juror was intoxicated, and the plaintiffs, in opposition, filed 24 affidavits. Judge Baker, in his rescript upon the defendant's motion for a new trial, said that he was convinced that he was wrong in refusing to hear testimony as to the condition of the juror at the time it was offered during the trial. He also said that the evidence would not justify a verdict for more than $3,000. Both parties filed bills of exceptions and the case went to the supreme court."

Summing up the evidence presented, the supreme court says:

"We have in this case a mass of testimony to the effect that for at least two days a juror during the progress of the trial was so much under the influence of liquor that he was asleep a large part of the time. He so far lost his power of self-control as to be unable to walk steadily in and out of the jury box, and by his foolish and childish actions, while testimony was being put in, revealed his own inattention and disturbed the jurors near him.

"The authorities are unanimous in recognizing the grave danger of the use of intoxicating liquor by jurors, and condemn in the strongest terms the indulgence in drinking by jurors while sitting in the trial of a case. * * * We think the evidence shows clearly that Sisson was in such a state of intoxication during a great part of the trial as to render him unfit to serve as a juror."

AT ST. JOSEPH'S.

Wedding of Mr. James J. Goldie to Miss Mabel Logan of Asbury Park.

The marriage of Miss Mabel Logan, daughter of Mr. Thomas Logan of Asbury Park, N. J., to Mr. James J. Goldie of this city took place Tuesday at St. Joseph's Church, in the presence of relatives and friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Doran, who celebrated the nuptial mass which followed.

The bride, who was attended by Miss Florence Norbury, as bridesmaid, wore a fawn colored traveling suit and a large black hat with white plumes, and carried a bouquet of white carnations and maidenhair fern tied with white ribbon. The bridesmaid wore a cream serge suit with a large black hat with black plumes, and carried pink carnations. The groom was attended by Mr. John B. Mahan as best man. The bride's gift to her bridesmaid was an opal and pearl ring, and the groom's gift to the best man was a pearl stick pin.

A reception for the family and intimate friends followed at the future home of the couple on Elm street, where many pretty presents were shown, among them a parlor lamp and pair of oil paintings from the clerks of the Newport Dry Goods Store, where the bride was employed.

Mr. and Mrs. Goldie left for Boston on a wedding trip. Mr. Thomas Logan of Asbury Park, father of the bride, attended the wedding, as did also her sister, Mrs. Bishop of this city.

OLD NEWPORT BUILDINGS.

Blacksmith Shop In Existence More Than Two Centuries.

Other Houses, Now Demolished, on the Army and Navy Site.

[The Bluejacket.]

As for the blacksmith's shop upon Farewell street, its first fire was lit by Washham, who lived next door, much more than two centuries ago and it has smouldered or flamed for many owners ever since. It is claimed that a portion of the smithy, and the forge, too, are original; they are certainly curious and the eight-inch oak sills, girts and other timbers give no outward signs of decay. Who knows, the very nails and spikes in these neighboring doomed walls may have been wrought here to eke out the framing pins or wooden nails so much used in Colonial buildings.

The drift way behind the State House, Hozier street, unfortunately for romance carries the name of an enterprising Colonial brewer and not that of the shade of "Admiral Hosier brave," whose "three thousand mournful specters with groans did Admiral Vernon hail," after the victory at Carthagena. But all the same this little colony did her duty then, and built the Tartar of 115 tons, and three other lesser sail for service in that Spanish war of 1740-44, established the Newport Artillery, and raised 200 enlisted men. Consequently, if forbidden by England to furnish simple round shot, good chain and other gentle kinks of war for the public fleet, the little old forge on Farewell street, as well as all the others in the place, must have worked hard repairing broken boarding pikes, battered swords, match and flint locks, cutlasses, and the like, for the innumerable private armed ships and other mysterious craft, with their petticoated crews, that went out and came into Narragansett bay with steady increase by hundreds, from the days of the Deborah, which was built in Newport in 1646, to patrol the island against possible Indian onslaught.

There were many sea ventures, for which a smith's hammer would be bid to ring a chorus; fisheries, great and small, the men seeking harpoons, blubber spades, thimbles and killocks stepping aside for housekeepers, mild-eyed Quaker ladies, asking pothooks and pokers. Hoes, too, for the farmer's corn and split shoes for his oxen were needed; perchance, a town order for one of the beacons—war signals for Tonomy hill and the old Stone Mill—they both had them in days of yore. Many a good strong man has stood with his left hand on the bellows, listening to his customer's will, and the chink, chink, chink of the anvil has only now died out. The state of Rhode Island is proud of her long lines of blacksmiths. General Nathanael Greene of the Revolution was one of the craft by descent as well as by leather apron.

The house on the corner of the Parade and Meeting street passed through various hands, always selling, after the Revolution, like all its neighbors, for Spanish milled dollars, a wise precaution in the troubles over Rhode Island's depreciated paper money. The construction here differs from that of the other buildings; there are three stories surmounted by a hip roof, higher ceilings and larger rooms. The fine finish of the arch below the chimney suggests greater outlay than in the other cellars, and this tunnel is found duplicated in that old and costly residence on Broad street, still pointed out as one of the finest examples of a day two centuries behind us. It should be noted, however, that third stories are generally considered additions if found upon structures ante-dating 1760.

Among the most noted occupants of this hip-roofed house was Judge Robert Lightfoot, born in London in 1716, a graduate of Oxford University, bred to the law in the Inner Temple, and later Judge of the Vice Admiralty court in the southern district of the American colonies. He may be considered as one—not the only one, however, even then—who came, modern fashion, seeking health and recreation in Newport, and fascinated by its climate, scenery and society, made it his permanent abode. He was one of those sought, not seeking; polished, witty, a friend and adviser of youth—Dr. Waterhouse writes of this—and a guest without whom no dinner party was complete, and no China bowl of delicately compounded steaming punch had its finest flavor unless his glass was filled. The judge and his daughter made lasting friends, although really

SWEET PEA SHOW.

Wide Range in Color and Texture and Many Prizes Awarded in Competition and Specials.

The special exhibition of the Newport Horticultural Society at its hall on Thames street Tuesday evening was worth seeing, and attracted a large number of members and friends of the society and lovers of fine flowers. Sweet peas were the order of the evening, although there were a number of exhibits of rare flowers; but the sweet peas were a whole show in themselves.

The exhibits were arranged on two long tables, the individual displays, in one color, being large and tastefully arranged. To the uninitiated the range of color and texture was remarkable, there being all sorts of dark reds, various shades of pink, white, blush, purple and variegated colors. The Spencer type was prominent, several of the varieties showing a velvety texture with curled edges, which gave even the gardeners an opportunity for careful study and some little amazement at the variety in which the flower can be developed.

There was but one class in competition, for the best six vases of not less than three varieties, and the judges—Messrs. Bruce Butterton, Andrew S. Meikle and William McKay—had considerable difficulty in judging between the three displays, finally awarding each a prize. The first was awarded to Mrs. William G. Weld, Paul Volquardson gardener, and Mr. Volquardson was given a first-class certificate of merit for his work in developing the flowers. The second prize was given to Mr. Daniel B. Fearing, John Baumgarten gardener, and the third to Miss Ellen F. Mason, Samuel Langford gardener.

The judges also awarded several special prizes for displays of sweet peas as follows: Mrs. T. O. Richardson, James Robertson gardener, $3; Stewart Ritchie, $3; Gibson Brothers, $3; Alexander MacLellan, $2; John Smith, $1.50; Elmer Johnson, $1. Honorable mention was given to the display by Miss Fanny Fowler, C. M. Bughoit, gardener.

Other specials were awarded as follows: Miss Alice Ketcltas, William Matson, gardener, $2, for a new hydrangea; Mrs. T. K. Gibbs, James Hooper gardener, honorable mention, for a California tree poppy (Romnela Coulteri); Mrs. Gibbs, honorable mention, for a new climbing rose (La Farolana); Mrs. Gibbs, honorable mention, for a new hardy outdoor plant (Gaura Lindheimel.)

SAILING AND MOTOR BOAT RACES

The boats of the Newport Yacht Club will have their weekly handicap race this afternoon, the wind favoring, and it really looks as though the motor boats would again make a try at racing. Heretofore the motor boats have had a different afternoon from the sailing craft, but by starting the sailing as well as the motor boats from the end of Gladding's pier, as is the arrangement for this afternoon, both classes can be sent away the same after noon, and two races can be held instead of one. This seems to suit a number of motor boat men, who did not care to race on a day other than the one when the sailing craft are out. For the race today the preliminary gun will be at 6:24, the start of the motor boats at 6:27 and the start of the sailing craft at the usual hour, 6:30.

Hospital Annual Report Shows Only a Small Deficit—Old Officers Re-Elected.

The annual meeting of the corporation of the Newport Hospital was held Tuesday afternoon at the hospital. President Buffum presented his annual report, covering the work of the year. The treasurer, Thomas B. Congdon, made his annual report, as did also the superintendent of the school for nurses, the superintendent of the hospital, the president of the Women's Aid Association. The various medical reports which go to make up the technical part of the hospital report were also submitted, and these were passed along to be printed and later read by people who know better what they mean than do the members of the corporation.

The election of officers resulted in the re-election of the retiring officers, who were all returned, as follows:

President—William P. Buffum.
Vice President—Thomas G. Brown.
Treasurer—Thomas B. Congdon.
Secretary—Harry G. Wilks.
Trustee, for three years—William P. Sheffield, Lyman C. Josephs, Charles E. Lawton.
Auditors—Thomas P. Peckham, Edwin S. Burdick.

Clark Burdick and Rev. G. A. Hulbert were elected members of the corporation, and some 20 or so were chosen new members of the Women's Aid Association, an association which since its formation has done a great work for the hospital.

The report of the president showed that he work of the hospital was conducted the past year almost within the income, the deficit being only $100.51. This was a gratifying showing and brought the corporation almost to that long-looked-for time when the income shall equal the outgo. This was due mainly to the unusually large receipts from patients, the total being $16,325.39, or about $4,000 more than the high figures of last year. The report showed that the Nurses' Home had been completed and is now in use.

After the meeting refreshments were served, as has been the custom for several years past, and the attendance not being quite as large as had been anticipated, the nurses, quite unexpectedly to them, shared in the treat.

CRANSTON SCHOOL PLAYGROUND OPEN.

One of the school playgrounds opened this morning, that at the Cranston school, where John T. Hurrington, Jr., has been secured as instructor. Superintendent Lull expected to hear from the young women who applied for positions as instructors for the girls, so that when the other two boys are secured the girls' part may also start. The swings and other paraphernalia at Cranston are now at work, and a way has been found to slow away the teeter boards at night, so that the neighbors will not be bothered by boys fooling over them.

DISCHARGES DUTIES BEHIND THE BARS.

Charge Against Mayor of Lawrence a Misdemeanor.

Official to Fight Case Through the Highest Courts.

LAWRENCE, Mass., July 14.—With the executive chamber of this city a cell in the Essex County jail here, Mayor William P. White, who was sentenced yesterday by Judge Schofield of the superior court in Salem, to three years in prison and to pay a fine of $1,000, for alleged conspiracy to bribe, continued today to discharge his official duties as the mayor of Lawrence behind the bars. Mayor White stated today that his attorney, Michael Sullivan of Salem, will immediately file exceptions and that he will fight the case through the highest courts in the country. His three allies, former Alderman Matthew Burns, George Smart, a tinsmith, and Samuel Kress, a carriage smith, who were convicted and sentenced with the mayor on charges of conspiracy to bribe certain aldermen, in an attempt to remove Fire Chief James A. Hamilton, were also confined in the Essex county jail.

Attorneys here declare that Mayor White cannot be removed and back their statements by quoting Article 8, Section 2, of the constitution of Massachusetts, which says that a man not convicted of a felony and not sentenced to states prison is not impeachable. They contend that the charge on which he was sentenced was a misdemeanor. Others state, however, that he will be unable to perform his duties as mayor under those conditions and that the office of the mayor shall be declared vacant.

The mayor was convicted of conspiring to obtain the confirmation by the board of aldermen of his appointment of James A. Hamilton as chief of the Lawrence fire department, and, later, to obtain his removal from office.

With the conviction of the mayor and three other prominent citizens after a trial which lasted two weeks, and the sentence of the executive and two of his supporters to terms behind the bars, the political scandals which have stirred the city of Lawrence for many months reached a sensational stage. Mayor White, on his pledges to give to the city a clean administration and to correct many alleged abuses and abolish graft, heading a "reform" ticket, was elected about two years ago by the largest majority in the history of the city. He was re-elected last year.

The jury returned its verdict after being out a little more than four hours. Samuel Kress was sentenced to two and one half years imprisonment; Matthew Burns, to two years, and George D. Smart to a year and a half. Ernest Dube, also convicted, was not sentenced, his case being placed on file because he had given evidence for the prosecution. Thomas Keegan, also indicted in the same case, was found not guilty.

Mayor White made an impassioned address to the court, declaring that he had been innocent of any wrong intention. Burns spoke in a similar vein, while the other convicted men made no statement.

M. L. Sullivan, the attorney representing Mayor White, argued for a new trial, but the motion was denied by Judge Schofield, who then imposed sentence.

Kress, one of the men convicted, has previously been found guilty of attempted bribery in connection with the same case, but has not yet been sentenced.

Mayor White sent the appointment of Hamilton to the board of aldermen about a year and a half ago. The appointment was quickly confirmed. Some time afterward charges were made against Hamilton and he is now under indictment for alleged bribery in obtaining confirmation of his appointment.

Charges of bribery began to come thick and fast in Lawrence, and at length it was alleged that Mayor White had turned against his appointee and was conspiring unlawfully to have him removed. The trial of Kress on the attempted bribery charge followed, and then the trial ending today, in which the mayor and his co-defendants were charged with conspiracy to bribe and conspiracy to oust Hamilton. It is expected that Hamilton will be placed on trial in September. He still holds his position as fire chief.

WILL TALK OVER SITUATION.

Taft Anxious to Prevent Floods From the Colorado Imperial Valley.

BEVERLY, Mass., July 14.—Announcement was made at the executive offices today that President Taft is desirous of formulating plans to prevent the devastation of the Imperial valley in California, by floods from the Colorado river. The President will see W. H. Holiburd, receiver of the California Development Company at the Evans cottage at Burges Point Saturday, and will talk over the situation in the Imperial valley and listen to Mr. Holiburd's suggestions. Reclamation and army engineers are expected to call at Beverly shortly to tell the President what they know about the Colorado river. Former Governor Curtiss Guild Jr., of Mass. is expected here tomorrow. He has been appointed special ambassador to the centennial celebration of Mexico, marking the founding of that republic.

IN CONTEMPT OF COURT.

George Fred Williams, Massachusetts Lawyer, So Adjudged.

PROVIDENCE, July 14.—George Fred Williams, the Massachusetts lawyer and former political leader, was adjudged in contempt of court by Judge William H. Sweetland of the supreme court for failing to obey a decree of the probate court ten years ago. The petitioner is Joseph U. Starkweather, a well known business man of this city, who alleges that Williams, acting as executor under the will of his mother, distributed the estate left by his father, James O., among her people, instead of turning it over to their children as provided in her husband's will. February 21, 1900, Williams was ordered to return the property, but the petitioner claims has never done so. The court now holds him in contempt unless he returns the sum of $2,365, with interest for ten years, and the household property, within 30 days.

CASE SIMILAR TO CHARLTON MURDER.

Dr. Crippen Wanted for Killing His Wife in London.

American Authorities to Aid in Search for Dentist.

LONDON, July 14.—Scotland yard is engaged with the murder of an American woman and today cabled the police of the United States, requesting the arrest of the woman's husband, Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen, also an American, who is believed to have sailed for New York, Saturday last.

The case is strikingly similar to that of the Charlton murder at Lake Como, Italy. Both women were American actresses who left their homes to meet death by violence in a foreign land, and in each instance the police pursued the American husband to the shores of his native land. Porter Charlton was arrested in Hoboken, N. J., but in the absence of an extradition treaty between the United States and Italy, specifically providing for the return to either country of a citizen of the other country who has committed a crime abroad, may go free. In the present case no such complications are probable as the British-American extradition treaty leaves no loop hole of which a suspected criminal may take advantage. The London police have made a definite charge against Dr. Crippen and propose to get him with the co-operation of the American authorities.

Dr. Crippen, who is a dentist and 60 years old, has made his home for some time at 39 Hill Drop, Crescent, North London. Some time ago his wife, Belle Elmore, a vaudeville actress and treasurer of the Music Hall Artists' Guild, disappeared, and subsequently a notice of her death appeared in the local papers. The fact of her demise was generally credited, but there was more or less gossip among the woman's friends and this finally reached the ears of the police. The latter visited Dr. Cripepn and the interview appeared to be satisfactory.

ALL STEAMERS WATCHED.

New York Police on Look Out for Arrival of Dr. Crippen.

NEW YORK, July 14.—New York's police authorities will keep a close watch on all incoming trans-Atlantic liners in the hope of apprehending Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen. The five vessels whose passengers will be scrutinized are the Lusitania, from Liverpool, St. Paul from Southampton, Cedric, from Liverpool, Minnetonka, from London and the Kroonland, from Antwerp, touching at Dover. Other vessels upon which Dr. Crippen might have sailed are the Columbia sailing from Glasgow, Saturday and La Lorraine, sailing from Havre the same day. First to arrive will be the Lusitania, due tonight or Friday morning. The St. Paul and La Lorraine are due Saturday, the Cedric Sunday or Saturday, and the Kroonland, Minnetonka and Columbia Sunday or Monday.

BUCKET SHOP MEN AGAIN INDICTED.

Three Plead Not Guilty to Secret Presentments.

Charged With Larceny And Conspiracy to Steal.

BOSTON, July 14.—Arthur B. Sederquist, Harry F. Curtis, and John E. Barry, of the firm of Sederquist, Barry & Co., of New York and Boston, now defunct, pleaded not guilty to three secret indictments when they appeared before Judge De Courcey, in the superior criminal court today. The three indictments charged larceny in 120 counts, of $500,000, the keeping of a bucket shop, and conspiracy to steal.

Following their pleading not guilty the three defendants were held in $20,000 bail each, for hearing in the early fall. Bail was furnished. The three men, with Charles H. Rollins, a former member of the governor's council and a member of the firm of Sederquist, Barry & Co., were in court here October 4 last, on similar indictments. Assistant District Attorney Webber recently discovered they had not been asked to plead to the indictment. Accordingly the secret indictment were issued. In addition to the indictment of Sederquist, Curtis and Barry, D. Eustace Bigelow and Perley L. Freeman, both in the brokerage business in New York, were also indicted on the same number of counts.

Sederquist, Barry & Co., had many offices scattered over New England and also in New York state and when that company went into bankruptcy, last year, it was alleged the company had secured many million dollars illegally. Curtis, who was at one time a member of the firm of Sederquist, Barry & Co., left this city for New York, where he formed a partnership with Freeman, known as Curtis & Freeman. In January of last year the name of the firm was changed to that of Freeman & Rollins Co. Both of the New York firms went into bankruptcy.

HELD FOR EXTRADITION.

Members of New York Firm Connected With Chain of Bucket Shops.

NEW YORK, July 14.—United States Commissioner Shields today held for extradition to Washington, D. C., Edward S. Boggs, Richard E. Preusser, Leo Mayer, and Robert A. Gov, members of the firm of E. S. Boggs & Co., with offices in this city and accused of being connected with the operating of a chain of bucket shops.

CHARGED WITH PERJURY.

Wealthy St Louis Bucket Shop Operator Arrested in Washington.

NEW YORK, July 14.—Louis A. Cella, the wealthy St. Louis man who is accused of having operated a bucket shop in Washington, was today placed under arrest by United States Marshal Henkel, on a charge of perjury.

ELABORATE PROGRAM PLANNED.

President-Elect Fonseca of Brazil to be Highly Entertained.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Probably the most elaborate program ever prepared for the entertainment, in the United States, of a dignitary from South America is being arranged for president-elect Hermes Fonseca, of Brazil. From the time he lands in New York August 5, until his departure September 2, he will be kept on the go, seeing the sights of America and being entertained with much display.

Charge Silva of the Brazilian embassy in the United States is arranging, at the State Department, for the presentation of General Fonseca to President Taft at Beverly. After that formality the president-elect of Brazil will visit Valley Forge, Pa., to meet Secretary Knox. Receptions in honor of the distinguished visitor are being planned at Philadelphia, Boston and Washington. Similar functions may await him when he visits Pittsburg and Chicago. The Brazilian will be taken to West Point and Annapolis to inspect the schools there. He also will visit the most important shipbuilding yards in the east.

PERU AND ECUADOR QUESTION.

Plan Being Made for Legations and Consulates to Apologize.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—How best to arrange for Peru and Ecuador to apologize to one another for the stoning of their respective legations and consulates, as a result of the boundary dispute last spring, is one of the problems that has called the representatives of the mediating nations, the United States, Brazil and Argentine republic into conference at Washington. So much was learned today, the second day of the conference.

SPECIAL JURY CALLED.

Evidence in Beef Trust and Oleomargarine Cases to be Presented.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—William S. Kenyon, assistant to the Attorney General, will arrive in Chicago today, where he will assist the officials of the district attorney's office in the presentation to the jury of evidence in the so-called Beef Trust and Oleomargarine fraud cases. A special grand jury called by Judge Landis meets today for the purpose.

MAY SEE FIGHT FILMS.

New York Corporation Counsel Decides Law Does Not Bar Pictures.

NEW YORK, July 13.—Moving pictures of the Jeffries-Johnson "fisticuff" at Reno may be exhibited in this city, in the opinion of the corporation counsel, whose ruling was requested by Mayor Gaynor. Mr. Watson wrote to the mayor today as follows:

"There is no legal inhibition of such an exhibition unless this can be derived by implication from section 1140A of the penal law, relating to exhibitions characterized as "obscene, indecent, immoral or impure, tending to the corruption of the morals of youth or others.'

"I do not think that moving pictures of a fisticuff, or an assault or prize fight, would come under the character quoted in the sense in which the terms are evidently used in this section. I may, of course, be wrong in this construction; I hope I am, for such an exhibition can certainly serve no useful or elevating end."

PATTEN INDICTMENT QASHED.

Found Defective in United States Court and Set Aside.

NEW YORK, July 13.—The indictments found by the federal grand jury in the United States circuit court June 18 last in the cases against James A. Patten, William P. Brown, F. B. Haynes, S. T. Hamman, C. A. Kittle, E. G. Scales, Morris Rothschild and R. M. Thompson, have been found defective and set aside.

GIRLS OF 16 IRRELIGIOUS.

President of Clark University Says They See Nothing but the Present.

GREELY, Col., July 13.—Girls turning 16 are absolutely irreligious, according to Dr. Stanley Hall, president and professor of psychology at Clark University, Worcester, Mass., lecturing at the summer normal school here yesterday. Hence he continued, they are devoted to rats, puffs, psycho knots, fudge, giggles and other ephemeral things.

"The budding girl is as baffling a problem as the soul of a woman," said Dr. Hall, "and the world now knows that instead of no soul at all, women now have one, two, three, or even four more than man. The young girl is absolutely irreligious in her nature. She is myopic, seeing the immediate present, whereas a boy looks into the future. Her life is all emotion and for that reason a certain religious fervor is likely to appeal to her. She should be protected from professional religionists."

VICTIM OF APOPLEXY.

James Delaney, Three Times Democratic Mayor of Holyoke, Dead.

HOLYOKE, Mass., July 13.—James E. Delaney, three times mayor of Holyoke, was found dead in bed today by his wife, at their home, 201 Chestnut street. Death was due to apoplexy, with which he was stricken some time during the night. Mr. Delaney was 63 years old. He was born at Lowell, but came to Holyoke when a year old. He was prominent in Democratic politics, being one of the delegates at large to the national Democratic convention at Chicago in 1884, when Cleveland was given his first nomination, and was an alternate to the convention at St. Louis, four years later. He was city clerk six terms and was mayor in 1851, 1855 and 1856. Governor William E. Russell honored him with an appointment on his staff.

DECLINE IN EXPORT TRADE.

Condition in Boston Due to Restricted Shipments of Cattle, Etc.

BOSTON, July 13.—The restricted shipments of cattle, meat products, and grain from this port has been offered as an explanation for the continued decline in Boston's export trade during the past ten or 15 years. During the fiscal year ending June 30 last, the total exports were valued at $70,517,675, while ten years ago the value was $143,708,232, a shrinkage of $73,190,557 or 51 per cent. The value of imports increased 109 per cent in ten years.

A SUCCESSFUL VOYAGE.

Submarine Salmon Returning from Bermuda After a Remarkable Trip as Builders' Test.

Submarine Salmon, the first craft of its class which ever made a sea voyage unaccompanied, left Hamilton, Bermuda, Wednesday morning at 10:15 o'clock for Provincetown, Mass., from which port she started last Wednesday. On the return trip the Salmon will be accompanied by tug Underwriter.

The Salmon reached St. David's head Sunday morning, after a remarkable trip, in which her seaworthiness was thoroughly demonstrated. Commander Davidson was navigator, and Captain Munn was in charge. The average speed maintained was eight and a half knots an hour but for 15 hours the Salmon did as well as 10 knots an hour. The engines were stopped only once for a re-adjustment of the twin screws.

The voyage was the builders' test trip and the Salmon will soon be turned over to the government, being 95.4 per cent completed.

While at Hamilton the Salmon attracted great attention. The crew was allowed to go ashore and stayed at the Hamilton Hotel.

THE COLONIAL THEATRE SITE.

The work on the Colonial Theatre site has progressed right along in spite of the heat, and now the greater depth under the stage structure is being prepared. This means cutting down some four or five feet into soft rock. While this work is going on the face of the rear cut is being carried back to the line and on this a man must work from a ladder with a pick. The yard at the stage entrance has been carried down to grade and two carloads of lumber are already stored there, while a cement shed is being erected and a stack of brick is being made in the main excavation, so that as soon as the trenches for the construction of the foundations are ready the material for putting them in will be on the ground.

COUNTERFEIT GOLD CERTIFICATES DISCOVERED.

Discovery of the existence of a new counterfeit $10 gold certificate has been announced by John E. Wilkie, chief of the Secret Service division of the Treasury Department. The certificate is represented to be of the act of July 12, 1882, series of 1901, and bears the check letter "D," plate number "156," the signature of W. T. Vernon, Register of the Treasury; Lee McClung, Treasurer of the United States, and the portrait of Hillegas.

TIVERTON.

At a special meeting of the town council it was decided to call a special town meeting for Saturday, July 30, to act on a proposition to build a sea wall on the west side of Riverside drive, between land of the Old Colony railroad and Cory lane, and also to act on the question as to whether the appropriation for general repairs of highways be added to and to what amount.

Charles A. Hambly was appointed tax collector, with compensation fixed at one per cent on the first $15,000 and two per cent on the balance.

The following were drawn to serve as jurors:

Grand—William R. Rose, B. Frank Macomber, Isaac F. Morin, William E. Hart, Joel H. Coggeshall, Bartholomew T. Albert.

Petit—Samuel R. Cory, Edgar L. Barker, Charles P. King, E. Clifton Negus, William R. Simmons, Fred W. Castino, Giles H. Simmons, Richard Bright, Andrew M. Cory, James A. Slowe, Abner Coggeshall.

Rev. Melvin Honeyman and wife, formerly in charge of Holy Trinity church, were in town recently, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Wyatt and family. Mr. Honeyman is at present supplying the pulpit at St. James church, Providence.

"AMERICAN PRIMITIVE MUSIC."

Frederic R. Burton's Volume on the Folk Songs of the Ojibway Indians.

Prominent among the names of the few men and women who have been pioneers in the unearthing of the rich field of folk song of the American Indian is that of Frederic R. Burton. Mr. Burton has spent much time among the Ojibway Indians north of Lake Superior, giving his whole attention to the study of their songs, the structure of the primitive music (for the music of a people still in a state of nature dates back to time primeval, being passed down from father to son for countless generations), and its reproduction for the use of the world at large.

With the Indians, as with the Russian peasantry, there is a song for every occasion; the choral, for instance, which accompanies the ceremony of the peace pipe, being the same in many tribes. Folk songs have at all times sprung from those nearest to nature, and who nearer to nature's heart than the North American Indian? These songs are the wild flowers of music—the graceful anemone or the glowing golden rod, and to many a student are much more fascinating than the cacophonies and enharmonies of a Strauss or a Debussy.

Into the field of Indian music no one has entered farther or from it plucked fairer flowers than Mr. Burton. The Ojibways are, according to him, by far the most musical of the tribes, and many of their songs have been transcribed, translated and set with simple harmonies by Mr. Burton, these occupying a separate section in his book. It is suggested that these Ojibway songs might be published separately, in smaller compass, for more general use.

On this subject there is much division of opinion among musicians. There are those who think Mr. Burton, Miss Fletcher, Miss Curtis, Arthur Farwell and others have used an excess of sentiment over the whole matter, and find in the so-called melodies more than appears on the surface. On the other hand, there are a few who quite agree with these persons, and find in the North American Indian music a rich field of folk song.

Be that as it may, it is an interesting matter and Mr. Burton's handsome, carefully written book will make the research more attractive. Scales, rhythm, half-breed music, structure and means, the art value of Indian songs, the Ojibway verse, difficulties in the way of the translator, the music of the Ojibway daily life, wordless songs, are some of the things Mr. Burton writes about. He tells many stories and deduces many conclusions. At any rate, "American Primitive Music" is a valuable addition to the United literature along these lines.

TOOK THE WRONG COURSE.

Only Two Motor Boats Finished, the Tippo Leading—Lack of Wind for Sailing Craft.

Lack of wind was the trouble with the sailing craft in the weekly handicap race of the Newport Yacht Club Wednesday, but that was not the trouble with the motor boats. It was an ideal day for the latter. The sea was like glass, there was an almost entire absence of anything like a breeze and the motor boats had their own weather. The trouble was that some of the skippers made up a new course and there was no one there to take their times. The club Year Book, on page 27, gives the course for motor boats, and those which followed this had their time taken. There were only two of them, however. The others ended their trip off the stern of the Electra, and so far as securing a line on their speed is concerned they might as well have remained at their moorings.

As was expected, Mr. Brownell's Tippo was easily first. Apparently it was a pretty close struggle between the Beatrice, Ahtreb and Pauline, but as only the former finished, the exact standing of these could not be made up. The Osprey was quite a way in the rear, but this was expected. It was planned to secure a line on the motor boats in this race and next week start the boats on their handicaps, so that theoretically all would finish together. This plan it is believed will give the motor boats a better contest than the old way of sending all away together and having them trail home. The times of the two boats which finished are as follows:

	Start	Finish	Time
Tippo, Brownell	6:35:27	6:56:05	20:38
Beatrice, Bailey	6:35:22	7:01:38	26:16

The Vesper II was the only sailing craft to start. It looked as though a good breeze might come out of the southwest, and twice it seemed as though it had arrived, but it was only a catspaw. Finally the Vesper came home under sail and power, the latter supplied by oars.

Commodore Arnold has issued a call for a club run of the boats of the Newport Yacht Club to Wickford next Sunday. The boats will leave their moorings at 9:30 and returning will leave Wickford at 4 p. m., racing home. It is suggested that on the run up the sailing craft which will be under Commodore Arnold's eye, keep together and that the motor boats, which will be under Rear Commodore Treichel, also keep together, the Pauline making the pace for the motors. The runs to Wickford are always cheerful affairs and it is expected that a large number, not only of boats but of members, will take part in this event.

IN THE LINE OF SUCCESSION.

William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., to be Assistant to President of Every Road in the System.

Mr. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., was Wednesday named as assistant to the president of the New York Central and the Big Four lines, will be made assistant to the president of every other line which is included in the New York Central system. He is a director in every one of the roads which comprise what has been known as the Vanderbilt group. On the New York Central directorate he took the place left vacant by the death of H. McK. Twombly. This action places him in the direct line of succession to the presidency of the roads of the Vanderbilt group. His position as director in the various boards gives him a voice in the management of each of the items of the system.

These facts hold a wide significance to Wall street. Railroad experts there believe they see a return of the Vanderbilt family to the prestige that group of financiers formerly enjoyed. It has been learned, through the personal statement of President Brown, that Vanderbilt, Jr., has for two years taken a prominent part in the management of the New York Central and Big Four lines. The statement is also made that the Vanderbilts have largely increased their holdings of stock in the roads of the Vanderbilt system, although Wall treet has believed that they parted with a great deal of this stock during the panic.

Mr. Brown is to leave for a vacation in Europe in the course of the next few weeks. A significance attaches to this recognition of Mr. Vanderbilt's standing as assistant to the president just at this time, in the belief of railroad men.

TO SUCCEED CAPPS.

Many Officers Named as Eligible, But Constructor Watt the Most Probable.

There is lively speculation at the Navy Department concerning the successor of Chief Constructor W. L. Capps, whose resignation as chief of the bureau of construction and repair takes effect October 1. It will be several days before an appointment is made. The chief constructor may under the law be either a line officer or a member of the corps of naval constructors. He must at least have the rank of lieutenant commander and be "a skilful naval constructor," which qualification is possessed by some members of the line as well as by all members of the construction corps. It is expected, however, that the choice will be confined to a naval constructor, not necessarily of the senior grades.

The name most heard in this connection is that of Naval Constructor R. M. Watt, now on duty at the Norfolk navy yard, who was appointed to the navy from Pennsylvania in 1887. This is the officer of whom Secretary Meyer said in a hearing before the House naval committee at a discussion of the re-organization plans: "I have in mind one constructor as manager who has shown special ability and who has had to work until midnight and then has not been able always to keep up with his work. That is a young man named Watt, at Norfolk, who has also managed to avoid the errors which so many others have made. He is at Norfolk, and the officers there without exception speak in praise of him."

Others who are mentioned as eligible are Naval Constructors J. H. Linnard and D. W. Taylor, on duty in the bureau of construction and repair; A. W. Stahl, on duty at Philadelphia; Robert Stocker, on duty in connection with the board of inspection and survey, and W. J. Baxter, who is in charge of construction work at the Brooklyn navy yard.

PERSONALS.

....The elaborate funeral given to King Edward cost the nation $302,600, as is shown in the supplementary financial estimate.

....Mrs. Caroline F. Osborn Warren, a descendant of Governor Mayhew, the first governor of Martha's Vineyard and Elizabeth Islands, is dead in Boston at her home on Commonwealth avenue. She was born in Edgartown in 1829. Mrs. Warren was the widow of Frederick Warren, head of the Warren line of steamships.

....Mr. and Mrs. T. Barbert of Pensacola have received a handsome spoon bearing the seal of the state of Florida from Governor Gilchrist. Married 19 years ago, the wife is now only 37 years old, but Mr. and Mrs. Barberi are the parents of 13 children. Six of the children are twins. Governor Gilchrist suggested that the legislature pass an act allowing the parents a pension.

....An Austrian medallist received an order lately to make for the Vatican a portrait medal of Pope Pius X. which, if satisfactory, was to be struck in gold, silver and base metals, and the medals of various degrees of intrinsic value were to be sold to visitors as souvenirs. When the work was delivered the Pope thought the portrait so good that he found a new and, he said, a better use for it. It will be the decoration for a new order, and will be awarded by the pontiff for "extraordinary service to the church." It will be known as the "Pius Order." Around the portrait are the words: "Pius X, Pont. Max. 1903." The reverse will show the papal tiara and the crossed keys.

Henry Vickers, retired painter, 51 Second Street, Newport, R. I., says: "My is my case, I believe, by the injurious effect on my kidneys of the paints and oils used in my work. The excellent experience with Doan's Kidney Pills warrants me in vouching for their merit. Kidney trouble was brought on from my kidneys contained considerable sediment, scalded when being voided and passed far too frequently. I was subject to dizzy spells, felt tired and languid and was devoid of energy. The good reports I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills led me to go to Wright & Hay's Drug Store and get the remedy. A great improvement was noticeable soon after I began its use and in a short time my whole system was toned up. I consider it no more than my duty to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

A SUMMER GIRL.

[Red and Black.]

She wears a saucy hat,
And her feet go pit-a-pat
As she walks;
And the sweetest music slips
From her saucy lips
When she talks.

She fascinates the street
With her gaiters trim and neat,
Made of kid;
For they twinkle as they pass
Like the rillets in the grass,
Halfway hid.

Her skin is soft and white,
Like magnolia buds at night
On the bough;
But for fear she'd be too fair
There's a freckle here and there
On her brow.

Dimples play at hide and seek
On her apple blossom cheek,
And her chin,
Shyly beckoning to you,
"Don't you think it's time to woo?
Pray begin."

Then her winsome witching eyes
Flash like bits of summer skies
O'er her fan,
As if to say, "We've met;
You may go now and forget—
If you can."

RAILROAD CAPITALIZATION.

If the capitalization of railroads is to be investigated, the country would be fortunate in having that difficult and delicate task performed by a board headed by the president of Yale University. If Dr. Hadley can spare the time for this work it would be strange, as university presidents have many duties, but he is said to have the matter under consideration and will accept the appointment offered by the President if he finds that it will not interfere too greatly with his college work.

President Taft's selection of Dr. Hadley is eminently creditable to him. It shows how anxious he is to have the work well done, and one so that the country will have perfect confidence that it is done well. Dr. Hadley has been a member of the railroad commission of his state and is the author of a book on transportation which is universally recognized as a work of authority. Therefore he has the best possible preparation for the task which President Taft wishes him to assume.

This of course is not the physical valuation of the railroads, about which there has been a good deal of talk. The Interstate Commerce Commission thinks that work would require something like five years and would cost two millions or more. The House tried to make the physical valuation of the roads a feature in the railroad regulation bill, which was passed. The Senate refused to accept this, but as a compromise with the President consented to this project of a board to investigate the subject of railroad capitalization and report to Congress whether a physical valuation is necessary and how it should be done.

The importance of a physical valuation of the railroads has been exaggerated by its advocates, for freight and passenger charges depend on many things besides the amount of money invested. Yet, if rates are to be regulated by the commission, and the courts will not allow them to be reduced below the amount needed to make a fair return on the investment, it becomes a matter of some importance to know what the investment has been and whether or not the nominal capitalization is greatly in excess of the value of the property.

PREVENTION BETTER THAN PUNISHMENT.

A writer sets forth in a magazine the idea that the present course of the police in the treatment of criminals is all wrong, that the entire system is based on erroneous principles, and the departments and their methods ought to undergo a complete reformation. He is not criticising the police, who are simply obeying orders and do not make the laws or conceive and adopt the policy to be used in the treatment of prisoners, law breakers and criminals. His complaint is that what the police under the existing conditions are expected to do is to discover and punish crimes, while what they ought to do is to prevent the commission of crimes, stop every individual career of crime as soon as it begins, reform the criminal at the very start of his road to ruin, and isolate definitely and charitably all who by birth or development are unfit to be at liberty or associate with their fellow-men. If this course was pursued he claims that society would soon be guarded much more effectually than it is at present and many careers of crime would be nipped in the bud which now are allowed, and almost or quite encouraged, by the existing methods of treatment of criminals.

There is a large measure of truth in what the author says on this subject, while at the same time his plan is not entirely easy to put into practice in the full form which he recommends. There can be no question in the minds of those who understand the police methods at present employed and the treatment accorded to criminals that the existing system is not one of reformation of the criminal and protection of society, but one of punishment of the offender and his temporary incarceration, instead of an effort to reform him or keep him permanently where he will not prey upon society. The discovery and punishment of crime is indeed now considered about the only duty of the police, and it must be admitted that they are not altogether successful at that, while they do practically little in the way of reformatory work and for the permanent protection of society.

The method advised by the writer would go deeper and strike at the root of the matter. It would be a system of prevention rather than of punishment, and this is in accord with all modern methods of treatment of cases which require the efforts of those interested in the treatment of the criminal, defective and degenerate. The new idea is that of prevention of the cause of the evils to be attacked, rather than the punishment or relief of those who are the victims of those causes. The belief upon which this plan is founded is that if the causes can be removed there will gradually be an improvement and a lessening of the cases of crime, distress and disease which are the direct or indirect result of those causes, whereas if attention is given simply to the cases which represent the results which have grown out of the causes the tide will still run as swiftly and fully and no headway will be made in trying to stem it. The need is to stop the flow at the start, and not simply try to mop up the stream after it has attained such proportions that the mop is useless and the task hopeless.

The adoption of the ideas of this writer would mean an almost complete transformation in police circles, which seems a well-nigh hopeless effort and yet it might prove much more simple a task than it appears. The change of policy involved would be revolutionary, but with good discipline in the department and a field adherence to the new scheme it might be that it would work itself out with far less difficulty than seems likely. It would be interesting to see such a policy adopted and worked out in some city, in order that the results might be noted and a decision reached as to whether the plan is practicable. That the theory is good cannot be doubted and that it will some time be put into practice is not unlikely, but it would seem probable that the transformation will be gradual rather than complete at the outset. The trend of the times is surely in that direction, but the idea may not be realized, at least in its fullest extent, for some time yet.

A QUESTION OF EFFEMINACY.

Several British educationalists have remonstrated with us on the extensive employment of women teachers and have declared that the effect must be to produce effeminacy, but the schools have been taught mostly by women for two or three generations and the question is whether effeminacy has been produced? Are we becoming a nation of molly-coddles? Are American men tending obviously toward sissies?

It happens that most of the charges made against us are of a different character. We are accused of lawlessness in many directions. Crimes of violence are said to be more common here than abroad, and a frequent result of a crime of violence is a lynching. That, whatever else it is, is hardly evidence of effeminacy. Sixty years ago we were accused of doing a good deal of filibustering. A few years later the North rising put 2,700,000 soldiers in the field, counting each enlistment once. The energy manifested in the development of the continent does not indicate what is commonly known as effeminacy. The eagerness of the country to plunge into war with Spain and the promptness with which nearly 300,000 recruits were obtained is not exactly suggestive of effeminacy.

Across the ocean the Archbishop of York not long ago made certain remarks about the increasing effeminacy of English schoolboys. Possibly that means only that public sentiment does not tolerate the flogging by teachers and the fagging by the upper form boys which used to prevail. We do not pretend to know what grounds there are for the complaints of His Lordship. We merely observe that we see little effeminacy here and the archbishop thinks he sees a great deal in England, where boys are not much under women teachers.

The archbishop complains that the schoolboys are too indulgently treated in feeding, drinking and apparel and that their mothers are terribly afraid their darlings will have too hard a time. There are few mothers of the typical Roman variety, but if the archbishop is correct effeminacy is not averted by the employment of men teachers for boys.

The American Federation of Labor and other workingmen's organizations are contemplating an aggressive campaign in the Congressional elections in the interest of organized labor. They propose to show how members of the present Congress who are up for re-election have voted on legislation in which labor was interested, and to ask new men entering the field how they stand on these propositions. There are tactics of a bulldozing nature and ought not to be of serious consequence. Organized labor seems to forget or refuses to recognize that the laws it seeks to have enacted are class legislation in the largest degree, and that its own efforts are setting class against class more determinedly than ever. Any sort of class legislation, whether it be in the interest of capital or of labor, is not likely to prove beneficial to the general public.

The Payne tariff bill is proving to be what it was intended to be—a revenue-making enactment and a free trade boomer at the same time. Imports exceeding by more than $154,000,000 those of any previous similar period came into the United States during the first 11 months of the operation of the new law. More than 40 per cent of these entered free of duty, being a larger percentage than in the corresponding period of any previous year except 1897, the closing year of the Wilson tariff law, and 1892, 1893 and 1894, when sugar was admitted free of duty under the McKinley law. Customs receipts during the 11 months were $302,822,161, and were exceeded only in 1907, when the first 11 months brought in $307,053,391 in customs receipts.

The electric cars stop on each side before crossing Bellevue avenue. Automobiles do not stop, and few slow down, at this intersection of streets, any more than they do at any other, and yet some of the automobile people are complaining of the carelessness of the cars. The owner of a machine objected to police interference on Thames street because his chauffeur was compelled to obey the rules of the road and do his part toward clearing a blockade. The machine bears a Massachusetts register, though the owner is spending the summer in this state. It is much the same old feeling that everything else must give way to the automobile.

Ex-President Roosevelt rises to explain, with his usual emphasis, that he has as yet taken no stand in favor of either the regular or insurgent Republicans, and it is evident that those who have been claiming his support in the factional party strife have been counting their chickens before they are hatched. It is plain that Mr. Roosevelt has been and is giving the "glad hand" to everybody, regulars and insurgents alike, and is trying to remain on friendly terms with everybody, with the hope apparently of being at some time the mediator between the two factions and the harmonizer of both sides, in the interest of the whole party.

President Taft expects Senator Aldrich, even after the latter retires from the Senate, to aid him in bringing about a reform in the country's financial system. The monetary commission of which the Senator is chairman, is expected to recommend to Congress sweeping changes, although it will not make the report until a year from next December. Senator Aldrich is thoroughly acquainted with the financial system of the country and with no other official duties after the fourth of March next will have plenty of time to give to the commission's work.

Newport was glad to escape the threatened tempest Wednesday, but would have been better satisfied if the shower, which came a little later, had brought a larger rainfall. The little rain hardly wet the surface, and the ponds, roads, fields, lawns and gardens need moisture badly.

THE MAGAZINES.

There are two promising "beginnings" in the August St. Nicholas—the first chapters of a story by Charlotte Canty, "The Nonsense Boy," and the first of Francis Arnold Collins's three articles telling how to make and fly model aeroplanes. The reader does not find out in this number just who "the nonsense boy" is, though one may guess, but he is worth while for the happy hours he gives little lame Donald. Mr. Collins's narrative on the newest of new sports for boys will interest many thousands of boys, for the kids of this country are really helping the development of the art of air flying. The sketch has many illustrations from photographs.

There is more than the usual number of short stories—"An Honorable Surrender," the tale of a hazardous sailing trip; "The Little Hare of Oki," a Japanese fairy tale; another jolly Betty story; "Erasmus Small, Surfman," a story of young adventure, and more of all the serials.

Jolly and profitable vacation work is described in Annette Rehmann Perrett's article on "Boys' Rooms," in which writer and artist describe several interesting and attractive rooms, and urge upon boys realization of their power over their surroundings.

Photo-Era for July makes a strong appeal to the worker in landscape and portraiture. William S. Davis describes how the camerist may obtain the most inspiring effects when the sun casts long shadows or causes gorgeous cloud effects overhead. The portrait work of the famous English professional, Furley Lewis, is well set forth by his compeer, A. H. Blake, M. A. C. H. Claudy writes illuminatingly on "The Cost of Photography as a Hobby." F. J. Mortimer, a well known English pictorialist and technician, explains his process of "Simultaneous Printing and Developing of Enlargements."

Other illustrations are a portrait of Billie Burke, by J. H. Garo; an effective figure study, "Flaneur," by J. E. Mock, of Rochester; a portrait study by Charles Hallan of New York, landscapes by E. J. McPhail and L. F. Brehmer and a delicate nude study, "En Plein Air," by C. Yarnall Abbott, a well known Philadelphia pictorialist. Among the prize winning pictures in the Round Robin Guild department are winter scenes by William Spanton and Elgin Lessley; also pictures illustrating the seasons. The picture on the front cover is by Nicola Perscheid, the leading portrait photographer of Berlin, and represents a group of swans printed in green.

Thunder Shower Breaks Heat and Strikes In East Providence.

Westerly Man Fatally Injured by Collision With a Car—Accepts Call to Norwood Church.

The humid heat in and about Providence Wednesday was broken in the afternoon by a thunder shower which cleared the atmosphere for a short time. The lightning which accompanied the storm was not felt in Providence, but in East Providence three places were struck and 16 persons narrowly escaped injury. The damage done was considerable, a peculiar feature of the bolt which worked the havoc being that it was not heard at all. A bell tower in a Pawtucket mill was also struck, one of the employes narrowly escaping injury. The changes in the weather conditions were as rapid as they were violent. One moment an atmosphere of sticky, interminable heat and the next a rattling breeze of 34 miles an hour, a breath of cool in the air and the rapid flit of scudding clouds across the skies. The heat of the early morning caused one prostration. The changed conditions brought on by the storm, it is thought, will continue for several days.

George E. Champlin, a Westerly liveryman, was thrown from the wagon which he was driving on the Watch Hill road Wednesday when it was struck by a car on the Pawcatuck Valley road, and probably fatally injured. He was removed to the Westerly Hospital, where it was found that he was internally injured and his chances of recovery slight. An X-ray examination of his injuries was made. Champlin was driving two horses and his cart contained two tons of stones. He tried to turn out of the car track when he heard the car approaching, but the latter struck the rear wheels of the vehicle and threw him from his seat. He landed between the front wheels and one ran over his hip. The horses stopped. Those who witnessed the accident place no blame upon Champlin and say the motorman, J. Irons, did not judge the distance between the car and the wagon correctly. Irons is from Jewett City and had been on the road but a short time. This is the first serious accident on the Pawcatuck Valley road in a number of years.

Rev. C. M. Sherman of Providence, a former student at Brown, has accepted a call of the Norwood Baptist Church and will take up his duties at once. He has been serving as a supply at various churches in the state, and for the past month has officiated at the Norwood church, which has been without a regular pastor since February 27, when Rev. Christie W. Brunham resigned. Rev. C. M. Sherman is a native of New Jersey, studied at Brown University and at Taylor University, Indiana, went to Crozer Theological Seminary and was ordained in 1897. About six years of his active ministry have been spent in New Jersey and three years in New York state. A little more than four years ago Mr. Sherman left the pastorate, but has been continually engaged in supply work. Mr. Sherman has lived in Providence two years.

One hundred and fifty of the leading officials of the state spent Wednesday at Wickford, inspecting the state lobster hatchery. They were guests of the commissioners of inland fisheries, who were anxious that the state officers might see the work done at the lobster plant. President Charles W. Willard of the commission told the visitors that the success of the hatchery this year in producing lobsters was far ahead of that of any previous year. The visitors, the majority of whom were members of the General Assembly, manifested great interest in the methods used for rearing the baby lobsters. The guests were regaled with refreshments in a tent on a point of land near the hatchery and were then taken on board the commission's launch and conveyed to the laboratory and hatchery. The affair was purely informal and there was no speechmaking.

The Rhode Island Pharmaceutical Association had its anual outing on Narragansett Bay, Wednesday afternoon. It was in the nature of a "ladies' day" and the women of the party entered heartily into the spirit of the occasion. The association chartered steamer Sagamore for the afternoon and evening and spent the entire time on board that vessel, except an hour given up to a shore dinner at Field's Point. The thunderstorm which broke just before 2 o'clock, ran the Sagamore a race to Field's Point, and the druggists' party had just reached the dining hall when the rain began to fall. The fine weather of the late afternoon enhanced the pleasure of the occasion and the boat did not return to the city until after 9 o'clock, supper being served on board. The annual meeting of the association was held during the day.

The executive committee of the Democratic party at the conference on Wednesday afternoon and selected P. H. Quinn, Peter C. Cannon and Frank E. Fitzsimmons to represent the Democratic party at the conference on changes in the election laws, to be held by the districting commission, with representatives of the five parties of the state. Judge Fitzsimmons said he did not know just what matters the conference would consider, but the Democrats would scrutinize carefully any changes proposed.

Mrs. Hannah (Noyes) Remington, widow of one of the famous Remington triplets, was 91 years old Wednesday, and the anniversary was observed at the home of her sister, Mrs. Henry M. Green, North Smithfield. Two other sisters, Mrs. Mary Sillies and Mrs. William S. Mowry, both of Woonsocket, and a few friends gathered at the Green homestead and made Mrs. Remington's birthday a pleasant one. Though quite feeble, the aged woman enjoys good health. Mrs. Remington was born in Olney, Maine, but has lived in this section for the past 57 years. She was united in marriage at Smithfield to Washington Remington on November 14, 1853. Mr. Remington died 12 years ago.

William T. Neff of Providence died at the Rhode Island Hospital Wednesday evening of a broken neck, sustained by falling from a staging on a house in East Providence Monday afternoon. The victim was 52 years of age. The men were at work some 20 feet from the ground when Neff arose to change his position. He walked along a few feet, then suddenly stumbled and fell, landing on the ground on his back.

Richard Waterhouse, one of the best-known woolen manufacturers in the state and owner of the plant of the Greenville woolen mills, died at his home at Greenville Wednesday, in his seventy-fourth year. He had been in poor health for some time. Four years ago he retired from business life and gave up the active operation of the mills, which have since been leased to a New York firm.

Swimming through the swirling current at Pine Crest, just in the rear of Crescent Park, Robert Anderson, 11-year-old son of Walter Anderson of Providence, Tuesday saved the life of a young boy who was bathing and had become caught in the treacherous waters of a deep pool. On the Fourth of July his brother Seldon, aged 13, saved the life of little Dorothy Chipman, who fell into the water and was swept into the eddying waters beyond her depth.

The Supreme Court upholds the probation law and the authority of the probation officer who acts under the sanction of the court which has the direction of a respondent. Judge Sweetland has handed down an opinion denying and dismissing the petition of John Scamporrino for a writ of habeas corpus. John Scamporrino, husband of Mary Scamporrino, asked the court for the writ in behalf of his wife for the purpose of taking her from the custody of Margaret Dennehy, who had placed Mrs. Scamporrino in the House of the Good Shepherd.

TO START FROM NEWPORT.

Arrangements for Power Boat and Sailing Regatta to Oak Bluffs.

Commodore William M. Arnold of the Newport Yacht Club was in Providence Wednesday night, attending the meeting of the committee on the power boat and sailing regatta to Oak Bluffs, which will be held a week from next Saturday, July 23, starting from Newport harbor, for cups given by the Narragansett Bay Yacht Racing Association. The final arrangements were made and the circular prepared for the printer, and as soon as it is printed it will be distributed to the various boy clubs for the information of gentlemen thinking of starting in the race.

All boats participating are expected to rendezvous off the Newport Yacht Club Friday, July 22, as the start will be made so early Saturday morning that all contestants will need a good night's sleep. Entries will be received by the race committee at the club house until 10 p. m. Friday.

The race will start early Saturday, the preparatory gun for the sailing class being fired at 6:45, the warning gun at 6:55 and the starting gun at 7. The starting gun for the first of the power boats will be at 7:15. The power boat race will be a handicap, and the scratch boat will start last, the others being sent away on their handicap allowance ahead, in order, as far as possible, to bring the power boats to the finish line nearly together.

The start will be in the inner harbor, across a line drawn from the flagstaff on the Torpedo Station to the stakeboat. The course for the power boats will be around the Breakwater light, past Castle Hill buoy, Brenton's Reef buoy and Seal Rock buoy, leaving all on the port hand. From that point the boats may take any course the skipper chooses, having the right to go south or north of the Elizabeth Islands. The finish will be off the jetties at Oak Bluffs, where a stake boat will be stationed. The course for the sailing craft will be the same as for the power boats, except that after passing Seal Rock buoy the course will be to Cuttyhunk buoy, leaving it to port, and thence up Vineyard sound to the finish, the regular sailing course.

The rules of the American Power Boat Association will govern the race of the power boats, and the Narragansett Bay Yacht Racing Association rules the sailing race.

Ex-Commodore Gouch of the Fall River Yacht Club has been appointed a committee on entertainment and will arrange for the entertainment of the racers at Oak Bluffs, and those who know Commodore Gouch are sure this part of the program will be ably handled.

The committee in charge of the race consists of J. Louis Potter, chairman; Clinton C. Sanders, Scott C. Burlingame, Dr. Emery P. Sweet and William M. Arnold.

The East Greenwich Yacht Club will have an opening of its new clubhouse, illumination and entertainment Saturday, July 23, and Commodore Arnold has arranged for a club cruise by the boats of the Newport Yacht Club to East Greenwich to take part in the celebration. The boats will leave their moorings off the clubhouse at 2:30 p. m. Every one who has been there speaks well of the East Greenwich yachtsmen and it is expected that a goodly number of boats and members will take part in the run.

LOCAL BREEFS.

Mrs. Benjamin entertained at luncheon today.

—Power yacht Tanlwha is out at the shipyard for painting.

—Mr. and Mrs. Louis M. Waldron will sail for Europe July 19.

—Mr. Goelet's speed boat is fitting out at the shipyard for the season.

—Mr. Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., a former well known polo player, is a visitor here.

—Colonel John Jacob Astor and his son, Mr. Vincent Astor, are expected at "Beechwood" Saturday.

—Barge Frank Jenkins arrived Wednesday with a cargo of crushed stone for the highway department.

—Captain Walter Loring has sold Ship Judith to Frank Horton of East Greenwich. The Judith, formerly a yacht is 30 feet over all.

—Up to today there were 2,600 telephone connections in Newport and Jamestown, 100 more than at the corresponding time last year.

—Mrs. John H. Finn, Miss Marion Finn and Master John H. Finn, Jr., are on a month's vacation at the Mount Pleasant House, Jefferson Mass.

—Frederick H. Paine, agent, has rented No. 1 of the "Beach Cottages" at Easton's point to Rev. James E. Cassidy of Fall River, for the season.

—Mrs. Ellen French Vanderbilt and her son, just from Europe, have arrived at "Harbourview." Her mother, Mrs. F. O. French, will join her later.

—E. S. Marsh has rented for the owners of the Builders and Merchants Exchange the lower flat, No. 7 on the easterly side of Colonial street, to Captain P. J. Armburgt.

—A well known business man had an important order to fill from Providence. He left at 5:50 this morning and returned with the goods on the Providence boat arriving before noon.

—Torpedo boat destroyers Flusser and Reid, which have been at Rockland, Maine, since before the Fourth of July, have sailed, the Flusser Wednesday evening and the Reid this morning, for New London.

—Mr. Michael Mohan and Mr. William McKeon of New York, gave a dinner at the Hof Brau Wednesday night in honor of Councilman James Neff, a dozen guests being present. The table decorations were varl-colored sweet peas and Jack roses.

—Mayor Hoyle's condition continues to give satisfaction to his friends. The doctor states that he is three days past the fever and is steadily improving, and that he is better is evident to those who have seen him. He is still very weak—too weak to see even Mr. Quinn when he called.

—Lieutenant Colonel Sanford, engineer corps, and Mrs. Sanford will leave tonight for New York and Saturday sail on steamer Lapland for Europe, where Colonel Sanford goes as a representative from this government to the International Congress of Navigation at Brussels.

—Steam yacht Sagamore arrived Wednesday night, and later sailed for Bar Harbor. Power yachts Tanlwha and Reomah and auxiliary yawl Vagabond also arrived. Steam yachts Narada, Electra and Tech; houseboat Aunt Polly, sloops Kuwana and Athena and steamer Akello are also in port.

—Late arrivals at the Perry House include Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Hesse, Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Hoyt, Harrisburg; Dr. W. F. Gullboyle and George S. Stewart, Philadelphia; Edward H. Hammond, St. Paul; H. T. Miller, Hartford; J. E. Gorman, Pawtucket; Charles F. Bauer, Boston; Frank M. Arnold, Ashland, Kansas.

—The police report this morning was light—one drunk, who did not pay. Officer Owen Reilley was in with a prisoner from Portsmouth, against whom also Agent John A. Hazard of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals appeared. The charge was cruelty to a horse, through beating. The prisoner pleaded guilty and was fined $15 and costs, which amounted in all to an even 20-dollar bill, which was paid.

INCREASED MILK RATES SUSPENDED

New York Commutation Figures to be Investigated.

General and Important Advances to be Held Up.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Advances made by the Boston & Maine Railroad and other carriers, announcing increased rates on milk from various New England points to Boston, have been suspended by the Interstate Commerce Commission pending a determination of their reasonableness.

The commission refused to suspend the increased commutation rates into and out of New York city. An investigation as to the reasonableness of these advanced rates, as well as other commutation rates into and out of New York, was directed. The rates in question will go into effect July 20.

The commission announced its intention to suspend all tariffs naming general and important railroad advances, pending investigation into the reasonableness of the proposed advances.

RAISED FIFTY PER CENT.

Dealers and Public Complained of Milk Advances.

BOSTON, July 14.—The action taken by the Interstate Commerce Commission today, in suspending the rates for transportation of milk from New England points to Boston by the Boston & Maine Railroad, followed complaints filed with the commission by counsel and a large delegation representing the milk dealers and people of Boston. These persons urged the commission to suspend the proposed rates, which were an advance of about 50 per cent and were to become effective August 1.

MILK YIELD CUT DOWN.

Hot, Dry Weather May Result in Raise of Price in New York.

NEW YORK, July 14.—Prolongation of the hot, dry weather may result in raising of the cost of milk. In fact, it is said today, dealers who are having trouble in supplying their customers already have under consideration an advance in the price to producers. The torrid weather effects work both ways stimulating the demand at the same time that the supply tends to decrease. Three cents a quart, the present price paid to the farmers, is stated to be the highest July price for milk in 30 years. The probable advance of one quarter of a cent will cause an increase in the retail price of bottled milk in this locality, from eight to nine cents a quart, with corresponding advances for milk sold from cans. Parched fields in the country districts, the farmers say, have cut down the milk yield. An advance, local distributers believe, would stimulate the flow of milk this way.

SOLD FOR $65,000.

Seat in Stock Exchange Secured $11,000 Less Than Previous One.

NEW YORK, July 14.—A seat on the New York Stock Exchange sold today for $65,000, which is $11,000 less than the price paid for the last seat sold on the Exchange.

THE NAVAL HOSPITAL CONTRACT.

It is understood that the Noel Construction Company is to take over the contract for building the naval hospital here, and has already taken the contracts for the other two hospitals. The work, or part of it, was sub-let, but the sub-contractors do not seem to have made good, and the Noel Company, which had the contract with the government, was compelled to take up the work itself. It is expected that several additional bricklayers will shortly arrive to work on the building, which is going up slowly because not enough men could be obtained to push the work along. There seems to be a scarcity of mechanics and a surplus of new work just at present.

SALE OF THE BASHFORD PROPERTY.

Eugene C. O'Neill sold this noon at special master's sale, for Charles H. Koehne, master, the Almira Bashford property on Broadway, between Malbone road and Summer street, to Thomas S. Bowler, for $4,475. The estate is bounded northerly on land of Thomas J. Joseph and John W. Gibson; easterly on lands of James S. Rankine and late of David A. Patt deceased; southerly on Broadway and westerly on land of Thomas G. Brown, having a frontage on Broadway of about 40 feet and containing 5,360 square feet of land and a house rented in two tenements.

THEATRE BILL CHANGES.

The new pictures at the Bijou Theatre for the remainder of the week are "White Fawn's Devotion" an Indian story, depicting native life and customs; "Ilo, the Baggar Boy" a child picture; "The Lakes at Eventide," concluding with a comedy entitled "Does Nephew Get the Cash." The illustrated songs are by Emma Bruso, Joseph Silva and Tom Davis, with a duet by Messrs. Silva and Davis.

ADD THEATRES

At the Star the new pictures include Shakespeare's "A Winter's Tale," "A Game For Two," an Imperial comedy; "The Sheriff's Daughter," a Western feature; "A Mother's Grief" and "Her Two Suitors," a comedy. New Illustrated songs will be introduced by George E. Hammond and "Dan" Coffey will render the ballad entitled "The songs my mother sang to me." As an added attraction, for the evening performances only, Jessica and Laurie will offer a musical act, including solos, duets and violin solos. Miss Jessica will render "Mighty lak a rose," with violin accompaniment. The program will be changed nightly.

NOTED AVIATORS PROMISED.

Aeronautical Meet at Cambridge to be the Greatest Yet.

BOSTON, July 17.—The aeronautical meet to be held at Soldiers field in Cambridge, September 8 to 13, will be the greatest contest of its kind ever attempted in America, according to the plans of the Harvard Aeronautical Society, which are now nearing completion. The offering of prizes aggregating about $60,000 has proved a tempting bait to noted aviators from all parts of the world, as the society has already replies from seven of the world's noted air pilots that they will contest for the various prizes. They are Glenn H. Curtiss, Charles K. Willard, Charles K. Hamilton, Count de Lesseps, William Hilliard, and Aviators Johnson and Brookins. In addition the society expects to announce others.

The society announced today that it will offer prizes amounting to several thousand dollars to amateur aviators in New England, believing that this action will tend to increase interest in the contest. The city of Boston has united with the Harvard Aeronautical Society by requesting of Harvard University the use of Soldiers field for the meet this September. All railway companies operating trains from the West have announced that they will offer special reduced rates from Chicago to this city.

The following is the proposed list of prizes to be given by the society for heavier-than-air machines:

Altitude—First prize (world's record) $5,000, second prize $2,000.

Speed—First prize (world's record) $3,000; second prize $2,000.

Distance—First prize (world's record) $3,000, second prize $2,000.

Longest time in air during meet—$2,000.

From Soldiers' field, over Boston and back to Soldiers' field—$5,000.

Slowest aeroplane—$1,000.

Quickest leaving under own power, "get away"—$1,000.

Shortest turn—$1,000.

Most steady flight—$500.

Best high dive—$500.

Two passengers (300 pounds or over), for longest time $1,000.

Most weight carried per square foot—$500.

Most weight carried per horse power—$500.

Lightest construction without engine (flying)—$500.

Harvard cup—$1,000.

Accuracy—$1,000.

Short start—$500.

From stadium, down Charles river and Boston harbor to Boston light, and back to field by any route (quickest time)—$10,000.

TO SEE AEROPLANE FLIGHTS.

Elks, Holding Reunion at Detroit, Have Full Program of Events.

DETROIT, July 14.—The two events about which interest centred in the entertainment program of the national reunion of Elks today were the big parade of marching organizations from many lodges and the flights of two aeroplanes. A further business session of the Grand Lodge, a re-union of Michigan Elks and a moonlight excursion and ball were scheduled.

ALL BURIED TOGETHER.

Monument to be Erected to Victims of Ill-Fated Balloon Erbslosch.

LEICHLINGEN, Rhenish Prussia, July 14.—The bodies of Oscar Erbslosch, the balloonist, and his four companions who were killed when the dirigible craft was wrecked by an explosion yesterday, will be buried together. A monument will be erected by the airship company which owned the ill-fated balloon.

THREE YACHTS SELECTED.

Spain to Send Craft for International Sonder Races in August.

NORTH HAVEN, Maine, July 14.—Despatches were received here from Spain today, by officials of the Eastern Yacht Club, to the effect that the three boats, which will come to this country in August for the International Sonder races, have been selected. The yachts are as follows. Chanta, owned by Jose A. Arana, vice president of the Club Maritimo of Bilbao; Papoose, owned by Messrs Echeguren and Ibarra of the Real Club Nautico de San Sebastian and Mosquito II owned by Victoriano L. Doriga of the Real Club De Regatas of Santander.

These yachts are expected in New York August 10 and at Marblehead the twelfth. The Spanish-American races will be held August 17. It is expected that a number of Spanish yachtsmen will come over for the races, while Mr. Doriga, owner of the Mosquito II, and one of the most enthusiastic of the Sonder yachtsmen in Spain, saw active service in the war of 1898. The American trial races will be held August 8 and the following days.

CHINESE JUNKS SUNK.

Portuguese Gunboat Patria Drives Them From Colowan Island.

HONG KONG, July 14.—The guns of Portuguese gunboat Patria today dislodged the Chinese from the fort on Colowan Island. Many Chinese were killed. Two junks, loaded with Chinese who were attempting to escape, were sunk and all their occupants drowned. The Chinese gunboat stationed here watched the operations.

Trouble between the Portuguese and and Chinese on Colowan Island grew out of an attempt of a force of Portuguese soldiers to rescue several Chinese students who were held captives by pirates on the island. The pirates showed fight and were reinforced by natives from the Chinese villages of the interior. The resistence was so effective that the governor of Macao sent a gunboat to bombard the pirate villages at the fort.

PROVIDENCE THE TERMINAL.

Grand Trunk Officials Deny Any Intention to Transfer It to Boston.

President C. M. Hays and Vice President E. H. Fitzhugh of the Grand Trunk railroad Wednesday evening emphatically declared that Providence is to be the New England terminal of the road, despite the efforts of a Boston committee to induce the road to build a direct entrance into that city. Mr. Hays, in a statement after a long conference with J. J. Storrow and D. O. Ives of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, flatly rejected the Hub's plea that the road build its line into Boston. "We have absolutely no plans for the building of an entry of our own into Boston," said President Hays. Vice President Fitzhugh last evening sent a despatch from Montreal in which he said that the Grand Trunk would build into Providence and stand by its original plans as far as that city is concerned.

Wednesday's developments in the Grand Trunk situation were interesting. Boston started its fight to secure the road, the New York, New Haven & Hartford by leasing Commonwealth pier at Boston put a stumbling block in the way of the Canadian road should it decide to enter Boston, and the highest officials of the road finally put an end to the Boston agitation.

President Hays said after the conference with the Boston men: "The Grand Trunk and Central Vermont railroads have very satisfactory arrangements with the Boston & Maine for our entrance into Boston now. Our relations are of the most friendly character with the Boston & Maine, and we have absolutely no plans for building an entry of own own into Boston."

Vice President Fitzhugh in a despatch said: "The railroad commission of Massachusetts having granted the Southern New England Railroad certificate of public exigency, we will build the line to Providence.

TWO HUNDRED HORSES BURNED.

Fire In Old Exposition Building Causes Loss of $300,000.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 14.—A fire in the old exposition building has caused a loss estimated at $300,000. Two hundred horses were burned in the exposition buildings. Half a dozen apartment houses were destroyed, as was the Multnomah Athletic Club's home. The firemen checked the flames just as they reached the Studebaker Automobile Company's warehouses and salesroom.

Frank R. Price of Oregon City, is dead. He, with three other men, was sleeping in the Fashion stables. It is not known if the others escaped. The burned district covered approximately ten acres, but a large portion of this area was devoted to the athletic field of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club. Besides Price, who was foreman of the United Carriage Company's stables, a man whose name is supposed to be Prude is reported dead, and several stablemen are missing.

The sparks soon ignited the buildings on the north side of Washington street, a low wooden structure on the east side of Chapman street and Nineteenth street, and the building and plant of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club, all of which were totally destroyed. Several large apartment houses, several residences and a number of stores on the north side of Washington street were destroyed.

RAIN THE ONLY RELIEF.

White Fish the Centre of Disastrous Forest Fires.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., July 14.—The town of White Fish is in the centre of forest fires which are sweeping the mountain sides, licking up logging and tie camps. So far as is known there is no loss of life, but thousands of cords of wood and half a million ties have been destroyed. Another fire, about ten miles south, is coming directly toward White Fish. The fire sweeps with express train speed through the woods. Rain appears to be the only thing that can save this part of Flathead valley from terrible loss.

BURNED TO THE GROUND.

Fire Breaks Out in Tiffany's Summer Home at Dark Harbor.

ISLESBORO, Maine, July 14.—A large summer cottage at Dark Harbor, owned by Dexter Tiffany of St. Louis, was burned today, causing a loss of about $75,000. The cottage had been leased for the season by Mrs. Henry Parker Quincy. The fire started in the servants' quarters and rapidly spread to all portions of the building, burning the structure to the ground.

SITUATION SERIOUS.

Thirteen Forest Fires Now Raging in Western Montana.

MISSOULA, Mont., July 14.—Thirteen forest fires are raging in western Montana and the situation is serious. Two fires were reported yesterday in the Coeur d'Alene national forest. Both are said to be spreading with great rapidity. There are nine fires in the Lolo national forest, one in the Clearwater forest, in the Bitter Root forest, and one in the Missoula forest.

LABOR DAY FIGHT OFF.

Bout May be Perilous to New Orleans' Chances of An Exposition.

NEW ORLEANS, July 14—The Nelson-Wolgast Labor day fight in Jefferson Parish is off. Fearing that prize fighting in the state is perilous to New Orleans' chances of an exposition, Sheriff Marrero declared any attempt to pull off the meeting would result in all implicated landing in jail.

ARRANGING SPRING DATES.

Murphy of Chicago Nationals Visits President of New Orleans Team.

MOBILE, Ala., July 14.—President Charles W. Murphy of the Chicago Nationals is here to arrange spring dates with President Charles Frank of the New Orleans Southern League team. Frank is recovering from an operation for appendicitis. Mr. Murphy will leave tomorrow for Chicago.

SCHIFF ADVOCATES NEW ROAD.

Says One Should Run from Edmonton to Head Waters of the Yukon.

DAWSON, Yukon Territory, July 11.—Jacob H. Schiff and his party of friends who are inspecting Alaska left last night for Skagaway, where they will embark on private yacht Ramona, for Cordova and Valdez. Speaking on transportation development, he advocated a railway from Edmonton, Alberta, to the head waters of the Yukon.

LIEUTENANT GAY COMMENDED.

Displayed Marked Heroism in Connection With Sinking of Floating Derrick.

For heroism in connection with the sinking of floating derrick Hercules at the New York navy yard in a storm June 18, Lieutenant Jesse B. Gay of battleship Connecticut, flagship of the Atlantic fleet, has been commended by Acting Secretary Winthrop.

When the Hercules broke loose from the tugs which were moving her Lieutenant Gay was standing on the deck of the battleship. He saw the danger to the derrick and called for volunteers to prevent her from sinking. With two or three men, at great personal risk, he went below on the derrick to see that all the members of the crew had gone ashore. He then returned to the deck of the Hercules, closed the forward starboard hatch and fastened it securely, while the rising water mounted as high as his waist. He also closed the other hatches with the aid of the volunteers who accompanied him.

In reporting the incident to Rear Admiral E. H. C. Leutze, commandant of the navy yard, Captain William S. Rush, commanding officer of the Connecticut, said: "The voluntary, prompt and efficient action of Lieutenant Gay in his courageous fearlessness in the presence of extreme danger made certain that no man of the crew of the derrick was left on board and undoubtedly saved the derrick from sinking entirely."

Rear Admiral Leutze made this endorsement: "Not only was this a fine example of personal courage and ability to lead men into danger when emergency requires it, but there is little doubt that Lieutenant Gay's unhesitating and well directed efforts on the occasion were of great value to the navy in preventing further damage to the Hercules."

In his letter to Lieutenant Gay Acting Secretary Winthrop said: "The department desires to offer you its hearty commendation for your action on this occasion and to state that a copy of this letter has been placed on file with your record in the department."

August Belmont's Merry Task, ridden by Danny Maher, took the Zetland plate of 500 sovereigns; Harry Payne Whitney's Persens III, ridden by "Skeets" Martin, the July Handicap, of 600 sovereigns, and Lawrence Waterbury's Congo II the two-year-old sale stakes, of 200 sovereigns.

—The marriage of Miss Mildred L. Dick, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evans R. Dick, to Mr. Stuyvesant Fish, Jr., elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, will take place this afternoon in the Church of St. Philip, in the Highlands, Garrison, N. Y. Miss Dick's only attendant will be Mrs. Alexander Williams, of Philadelphia. Mr. Sidney Webster Fish will act as his brother's best man.

—It appears that the executive session of the committee on police station Tuesday evening was not by vote of the committee. The reporter was told the session would be executive before the committee met or had an opportunity to vote on the matter. The committee has believed that its sessions should be open to reporters, though it was thought that some of the discussion would better not be reported, and this idea has been followed.

GOT HIS HAIR BACK.

Was Perfectly Bald When He Started to Use Newbro's Herpicide.

Frederick Maxwell, Maryland Block, Butte, Montana, bought a bottle of Newbro's Herpicide, April 6, '09, and began to use it for entire baldness. The hair follicles in his scalp were not dead and in 20 days he had hair all over his head. On July 2 he writes, "and today my hair is as thick and luxuriant as any one could wish." Newbro's Herpicide works on an old principle and with a new discovery—destroy the cause and you remove the effect. Herpicide destroys the germ that causes dandruff, falling hair, and finally baldness, so that with the cause gone the effect cannot remain. Stops falling hair at once and a new growth starts. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Hires
Means Health and Purity

Two questions alone are vital in the use of any beverage—Is it pure? Is it healthful?

The ingredients used in the manufacture of Hires are personally selected by its inventor, every one possessing a known health value. Many of them could be had at less than half their cost, but they would be less than half as good. The flavor—by which you judge—would be there, but the quality—by which we judge—would not.

Hires could not be made in cleaner vessels by cleaner methods—the tanks are glass-lined, the pipes are solid block tin, the water distilled and the workmen are clean—all under the constant supervision of a practical chemist—a graduate and formerly a professor in one of our foremost technical colleges.

Hires is pre-eminent in healthfulness and purity. It aids digestion and relieves indigestion. Without a trace of false stimulants or irritants such as soap bark, etc.

But don't ask for rootbeer—ask for Hires and thus be sure to get the only genuine *root*beer.

5¢ the glass at any fountain, Or in bottles, carbonated.

Insist upon the genuine syrup.

STRIKE MAY BE AVERTED.

Pennsylvania Road Employes and General Manager Confer.

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—General Manager W. W. Meyers, of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and the representatives of the trainmen and conductors of the compay on the lines east, who voted to strike, will meet again today. It is not believed a strike will be called. The demand is for an equivalent to a ten-hour work day, with 11 hours' pay and a change to the mileage system of computing pay.

PROVIDENCE SCORED.

Wages and Working Conditions of Jewelry Workers Worst in Country.

BOSTON, July 14.—A new working agreement, calling for a 25 per cent increase has been adopted by the International Jewelry Workers Convention in this city, for presentation to manufacturers throughout the country. It was stated that for wages and working conditions for the jewelery workers Providence was the worst city in the country and the firms there will be compelled to meet the wages and working conditions of other cities under the new agreement.

AN INCREASE OVER JUNE 1909.

Postal Receipts at 50 Largest Offices Show Big Increase.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The postal receipts at 50 of the largest postoffices of the United States during June showed an increase of 9.67 per cent over the same month of last year. The receipts of June 1909, were 12.56 per cent greater than June 1908. The total receipts at these 50 largest offices last month amounted to $5,856,189, compared with $7,919,841 during the same month in 1909, an increase of $756,347. Of these cities those reporting the largest increase were Hartford, Conn., 29.70 per cent. Los Angeles, 22.99 per cent and Jersey City 20.71 per cent.

NO OPPOSITION TO STATE TICKET.

Watson and Reardon Nominated Unanimously.

Vermont Democrats Condemn the Tariff and Cannonism.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., July 14.—The Green Mountain Democracy flocked to St. Albans today, to select a party candidate for governor and a candidate for lieutenant governor of Vermont. In addition the Democratic conventions of the first and second Congressional districts of the state were to be held here during the day. Charles D. Watson, of St. Albans was expected to receive practically a unanimous nomination for governor, and Harland B. Howe, of St. Johnsbury, was understood to be unopposed for the Lieutenant governor nomination. B. E. Bullard of Hardwick was the temporary chairman of the convention and more than 500 delegates were present.

Before the convention opened Mr. Howe announced that he would not accept the nomination for Lieutenant governor. It was expected that the delegates would name in his place Roy. John B. Reardon of Springfield.

The platform was discussed before the nominations of officers were made. It says in part:

"We condemn the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill as unjust and illogical and demand a general revision of the tariff downwards. We particularly commend the independent Republicans and Democrats in the last session of Congress for their attempts to defeat this act.

"We favor an honest trial of reciprocity with all the world, and particularly with our neighbors, the Dominion of Canada.

"We condemn that despotism on the part of the Speaker of the National House of Representative known as Cannonism. To prevent this form of tyranny we favor an amendment to the United States constitution, if necessary, which will render this method of overriding the rights of the citizens absolutely impossible. We lament the fact that the members of the Vermont delegation in Congress were not found voting with those who have been successful in ridding the country for a while at least of the abuses known as Cannonism."

On state issues the principal planks were one declaring that the present high license liquor law had resulted in great good to the state, and one demanding the passage by the next legislature of laws reforming the present methods of taxation to wipe out the so-called double taxation.

Following the presentation of resolutions and their adoption by the convention the following state ticket was nominated by acclamation: Governor, Charles D. Watson, St. Albans; lieutenant governor, Rev. John B. Reardon, Springfield; secretary of state, C. L. McMahon, Stowe; state treasurer, John W. Thurston, Island Pond; auditor of accounts, F. F. Platt, Brattleboro; attorney, H. C. Shurtleff, Montpelier.

At the conclusion of the state convention the Democrats of the two Vermont Congressional district met in separate conventions in this city. In the First District convention P. M. Meldon of Rutland was nominated for Congress. The nominee in the Second district was Alexander Cochrane of Groton.

35,000 MAKE DEMAND.

Shipyard Workers Ask for Increase in Wages and 53 Hour Week.

HAMBURG, July 14.—Thirty-five thousand shipyard workers united today in a demand upon their employers for an increase of ten per cent in wages and 53 hour work week.

SIGNAL FOR SERIOUS RIOT.

About 200 Laborers Arrive at Sugar Refinery Piers in Williamsburg.

NEW YORK, July 14.—The arrival today of a steam lighter bearing 200 laborers at the piers of the American Sugar Company refinery in Williamsburg, where a strike is in progress, was the signal for a serious riot. A crowd of 100 or more strikers charged toward the pier hurling bricks and stones. Policemen interposed and dispersed the mob. The refinery has been shut down for several days.

STRIKE IMMINENT.

About 15,000 Employes on Pennsylvania Road May Go Out.

PITTSBURG, July 14.—Announcement of the strike vote of nearly 15,000 conductors and trainmen employed on the Pennsylvania Railroad, west of Pittsburg, was promised for this afternoon. It has already been intimated that the balloting has shown a sentiment similar to the eastern men, who have favored a strike if necessary.

DEMANDS GRANTED.

Lasters, Who Struck at Hart Brothers Shoe Factory, Return.

LYNN, Mass., July 14.—The 14 lasters who struck at the Hart Brothers shoe factory, about two weeks ago, went back to their old places today. Their demands are said to be granted.

ABOUT 100 MEN OUT.

Strike of Freight Handlers at Two Providence Docks.

PROVIDENCE, July 14.—The strike of freight handlers at the Providence Line dock was followed today by a similar movement at the Merchants & Miners Transportation Company docks, where a number of laborers struck. About 100 men are now on strike, demanding an increase in wages.

IDENTICAL NOTES PRESERVED.

Legations Ask for Declartion of Edict Completing Hankow Contract.

PEKIN, July 14.—The four interested legations—American, British, French and German today presented identical notes to the foreign office requesting the promulgation of an edict completing the Hankow-Sze Chuen railway contract.

ROOSEVELT HAS QUIET DAY.

No Developments of Important Expected at Sagamore Hill.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y. July 14.—Colonel Roosevelt was not expecting any political visitors today and planned to spend the day quietly at Sagamore Hill. It was not anticipated here that there would be any developments of importance today.

NEW YORK, July 14, Wall Street—The market opened with Amalgamated Copper at 57¼, American Cotton Oil 60, American Smelting and Refining 67¼, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe 98⅝, Brooklyn Rapid Transit 78¼, Canadian Pacific 188⅝, Chesapeake & Ohio 73¼, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul 122¾, Great Northern preferred 123¼, Interborough Metropolitan preferred 51⅜, Missouri Pacific 53, New York Central 113¾, Northern Pacific 117¾, Pennsylvania 128, Reading 145¾, Rock Island 32¼, Southern Pacific 114½, Union Pacific 160¼, United States Steel 70½ and 70⅝, Wabash preferred 36.

10—There was very little activity in the opening dealings in stocks and price changes were correspondingly small. Gains were the rule, extending to ¾ in Canadian Pacific and ⅝ in St. Paul.

11—A strong tone developed when moderate buying orders were executed in the market leaders. An increased demand for the copper stocks also exerted a strengthening effect on the market. After a score or more stocks has been advanced a point and over, the purchases began to slacken and the list became dull and easy.

Noon—The absence of selling pressure in the stock market gave it the appearance of being over sold as described by the traders. Effective demand appeared at any recessions, although there was occasional hesitation and great dullness on advances. Reading was carried above 147. Bonds were irregular. Money on call steady at 2½ per cent. Prime mercantile paper 5 to 5½ per cent.

St. Mary's Lawn Party Escaped the Heavy Shower.

Decorations Outside and Within Oakland Hall Especially Attractive.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

The lawn party given by St. Mary's Guild at Oakland hall Wednesday from 5 till 11 o'clock was a pretty affair, giving satisfaction to all who had it in charge as well as those attending. The hall, with its decorations of flags and bunting, remained untouched by rain, while three miles north and south the rain fell in heavy showers, so that in a few minutes the roads were flooded.

The decorating committee—Mrs. Francis P. Conway, chairman; Dr. Conway, N. Horace Peckham, Herbert Chase, Mrs. William Thurston and Mrs. Robert H. Manchester—displayed much skill. The fence on the front was lined with a row of small flags and the front of the hall well covered with large and handsome flags of many nations, loaned by Mrs. William R. Hunter, the whole surmounted by the Stars and Stripes. The usually unattractive interior had been almost entirely transformed. The colors were red, blue and green. Each of the eight long windows had drapery curtains, the colors alternating, and over them lace curtains. Between the windows were good-sized flags, the standards crossed, and below branches of green and flowers of white set in large fans of the different colors. Over the platform, where the Amphion orchestra furnished music, was a large state flag, so draped as to bring out the word "Hope" on a white ground, and above the entrance door was another similarly arranged. From the centre of the ceiling were many long streamers, festooned to the corners, the centrepiece being voluminous.

There were four tables, glittering with silver, glass and china, and beautiful vases of flowers as centrepieces. Mrs. Charles Sumner Sisson served salad and Miss Jean Barclay poured at the first table, the decorations being pink rambler roses; Mrs. Francis P. Conway poured and Mrs. Charles A. Burbidge served salad at the second table, the decorations being a fine collection of fleur-de-lis given by Mrs. Hunter; at the third table Mrs. Clara B. Dennis poured and Mrs. N. Horace Peckham served, the decorations being nasturtiums; at the fourth table Mrs. Borden L. Sisson served salad and Mrs. James H. Fish poured, the decorations being pink ramblers. The supper consisted of chicken salad and cold chicken, rolls, pickles, tongue, ham, cake, coffee and tea. The other committees were as follows:

President of the Guild, Mrs. William R. Hunter; dining room, Mrs. John E. Manchester, Mrs. Charles S. Sisson; in charge of the four tables, Mrs. Conway, Mrs. John E. Manchester, Mrs. N. Horace Peckham, Mrs. Charles S. Sisson; dining room assistant, Mr. John O. C. Peckham, Mrs. Barclay Gifford; pillows and aprons, Lu Albro, Helen Peckham; coffee, kitchen, Mrs. John R. Manchester, Mrs. Herbert Chase, John E. Manchester; gate tickets, Borden L. Sisson; supper tickets, Harry Curtis, J. O. C. Peckham; carving, John E. Manchester, John R. Manchester; out-of-doors, N. Horace Peckham, Herbert Chase; candy, Mrs. George A. Brown, Mrs. George Elliott; cake, Mrs. Abner P. Anthony; Mrs. Robert H. Manchester; worsted articles, Mrs. William G. Albro; fancy work table, decorations sweet peas, Mrs. William Thurston.

The waiters at Mrs. Dennis's table were Misses Ruth E. Brown, Laura Manchester and Ruth E. Thurston; at Mrs. Conway's, Miss Eleanor Peckham and Miss Edna Wilson; at Mrs. James H. Fish's, Miss Rachel H. Peckham and Miss Katharine Anthony, Mrs. C. Woodman Chase and Mrs. Charles Sherman; at Mrs. C. S. Sisson's, Mrs. [illegible] Mrs. William G. Gifford, Miss Esther Gifford, Miss [illegible] Brown and Miss Sarah Hall.

After supper the hall was cleared of tables and there was dancing until a late hour, to the music of the Amphion orchestra. It was estimated that there were about 200 present, about 125 supper tickets were sold and large quantities of ice cream and lemonade found ready sale. The few eatables remaining were sold at auction at fair prices by N. Horace Peckham. All the tables were well patronized.

There were large numbers present from Newport and Middletown, the larger number of whom remained through the evening. By the courtesy of the Old Colony Company the grounds were brightly illuminated, the electric bulbs making a pretty appearance.

Rev. Alfred Manchester and wife of Salem spent Monday night and part of Tuesday with Mr. Manchester's sister, Mrs. George G. Brawley, and family, taking dinner with Mrs. Timothy Durfee, Mrs. Manchester's sister.

Cards of invitation have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Greene Hicks of Bristol Ferry to the marriage of their daughter, Abby Minot, to Mr. George Hubert Hollister. Wednesday evening, July 27, at 8 o'clock, at St. Paul's Church.

Rev. Allan Jacobs, his wife and two children, who are abroad, attended the Passion play at Oberamgau. Mr. Jacobs was formerly rector of St. Mary's.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Davey of Brockton are visiting Mr. Davey's sister, Mrs. John Barker.

Master Lester Morton is spending his vacation with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Timothy P. Durfee.

Captain Frank G. Grinnell has taken out his traps at Seaconnet, the fishing season there having been short.

Miss Annie Green of Newport is guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Tomlinson.

Colonel William Barton Chanter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will give the Revolutionary drama early in the fall, under the training of Mrs. Wallace Peckham, William Ellery Chanter having other plans in view.

Mrs. Robert D. Hall Mc. is entertaining a number of friends at her summer cottage on Bristol Ferry road.

A DIFFERENCE IN FARES.

Those Who Bought Tickets on the Steamer Paid Twice as Much as Those on the Deck.

The commissioners on inland fisheries had a large number of guests from all parts of the state at Wickford Wednesday to inspect the lobster hatchery and its work, and incidentally to take part in one of those clambakes, which they prepare so well at Wickford. The formal part and the eating part of the day's outing were both satisfactory to all concerned, but there were some outs about the outing for those who took passage here on steamer General. The commissioners of inland fisheries were in no way responsible for the outs, which were financial, and had nothing to do with the scientific skill shown at the hatchery or the toothsome attractions of the clambake.

It was like this. When Sheriff Anthony came to buy his ticket on the General—after the boat had left the dock, and he had no recourse other than swimming—he found that it reduced his capital just $1.05. The $.05 he found he could recover by presenting his rebate check at the depot on the dock; this left an even $1 which it cost him to reach Wickford. It seemed a trifle high, but as others were paying the same the purser had easy going. The appearance of things changed when it was found that one member of the party had bought a ticket for 60 cents, and it was just as good as those which cost $1.05, with a rebate check for but $.05. This man bought his ticket on the dock, before going on board. At that time he had a chance to back out, without swimming, so that he had a moral as well as a financial advantage of his fellow travelers.

The worst of it was that he was called the "hayseed" of the party. He might have been a hayseed, but he had left his hayseed on shore and did not take it with im. It cost the others just 100 per cent more to buy their tickets on the boat than it had cost the "hayseed" to buy an exactly similar ticket on the dock. The sheriff was the leader of the insurgents, but all he got out of it, outside of the right to kick, was the $.05 rebate at Wickford.

Senator Anthony and Representative Sherman of Portsmouth were of the party, and were also in for that $1.05 price; but they kept quiet about it and no one had a chance to join in giving them the merry laugh which was generally handed out on the boat. That they appreciated the hold-up was made apparent after the festivities, for instead of coming back via the Wickford boat they kept right on to Providence and returned home via Fall River, where they knew what the tariff is.

It seemed almost needless to add that all bought their tickets on the wharf before the return trip. Sheriff Anthony comes in for the most blame, because most of the trip was made within his jurisdiction; all the islands are in Newport county, his domain, and only a mile or two of the trip was outside the lines of Newport county. The other guests therefore naturally depended on the sheriff to give them pointers on what to do—he did; it cost him just the same as the others, $1.05.

SOLD AS A WHOLE.

Remaining Section of the Bush Estate on Vernon Avenue, to be Held Until Fall.

The sale of the remainder of the Joseph L. Bush estate, that part situated on Vernon avenue, took place Wednesday, the lot being sold as a whole to the Bush Realty Company, for $6,100. There were a few bidders on hand, but it was felt, after looking the situation over, that it would be best to postpone the offering of these lots until fall, probably in September, when the public will have an opportunity to buy. Including the Bush estate sale of Tuesday and the recent Barker Building & Realty Company sale, there has passed into new hands a large quantity of land and it is believed that perhaps the absorbing powers of would-be buyers are temporarily clogged.

The total realized from the Bush estate was $46,520. The prices were generally considered fair to both buyer and seller; there were some bargains, and some places seemed to bring more than a fair market value. The lot on Mann avenue brought about 50 cents a foot, which was considered a very good price and showed that land values in that section are holding up well.

THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN PICNIC.

About 200 spent Wednesday at "Bethshan-in-the-Woods," on the occasion of the annual picnic of the Sunday School of the First Presbyterian Church. The day was beautiful and all gave three hearty cheers and a tiger for Mrs. Gibbs, through whose kindness the grove and its conveniences were enjoyed. There are few places better calculated to give outlet to a fun-loving crowd and the Sunday Schools of this city are to be congratulated that this beautiful spot has been taken in hand by one who has such a genuine interest in the welfare of the young people and whose generosity prompts her, at no small expense, to make it possible to enjoy, so near home, the finest kind of an outing.

The cars left the church at 10 and returned about 5. Almost all kinds of out-door sports were had and prizes given to the winners of the events. A number of the men of the church, under the direction of Superintendent MacIver, took charge of this part of the program. The collation served by the women was bountiful, included ice cream, oranges and candy. A feature of the afternoon was the signing of the register and a look through the the unique "round" house.

KILL THE CATERPILLARS.

The caterpillars of the tussock moth have put in an appearance. Now is the chance for boys and girls and grown people of both sexes and all ages, each to do a little part toward exterminating this pest. If a caterpillar is killed it cannot make a cocoon and cannot hatch out any tussock moths, and if each one who sees a caterpillar which can be killed will do execution there will be a material reduction in the next crop of tussock moths. Tussock moths are good only for destruction.

HARDSHIPS IN CAMP.

Stiff Tour of Duty Laid Out for Regulars and Militia.

New Buildings Erected and Much Work in Preparation for the Troops.

The defenders of the nation in the Artillery District of Narragansett are to be subjected to much hardship during their training this year. Fort Wetherill has guns which would do effective execution in defending the bay, but that is about all the post can boast of. It is a long way from being even temporarily manned, if consideration is to be given the officers and men detailed to the duty. The reservation does not even afford a decent road for any part of its mile along shore, and the army mule is the only animal which can successfully negotiate the paths. If they can be called that, about the camp.

Notice to abandon the good camping grounds at Fort Adams came too late to provide a reasonable ground at Wetherill, even if the money had been available. Washington said "go" and the regulars have gone. The National Guard will also go for this once, but one wonders if it will ever go again. A hard tour of duty has been laid out, and while there will be no infantry work there will be the necessity of hurried attendance in battery. In response to calls to arms, and with the best possible layout of the several encampments it has been impossible to arrange them so that the men will have good tracks to the batteries. It will be a lucky tour of duty if there are no bones broken in those hurried responses, and the hospital corps will be kept busy attending to wounds caused by contact with rocks is already assured.

Battery Varnum, at the old Fort Dumpling site, is now manned by the One Hundred and Twenty-ninth company and next week will have in addition a company of the National Guard. The main encampment of the post is farther to the westward, back of the long line of guns which from the rear look powerful, but from the front or sea side hardly betray their presence. Half of the One Hundred and Thirtieth company is encamped back of Battery Zook, half of the One Hundred and Seventeenth in the rear of Battery Wheaton and the One Hundred and Second in a similar position at Battery Walbach.

New houses have been built on the shore for latrines, and shoers, plumbers and carpenters have been busy three weeks, making preparations for the coming of the troops, doing work which was permanently done at Fort Adams. The Adams post exchange has been practically transferred to Wetherill and is trying to make itself at home in the guard house structure near the fort wharf. It will be a long way from the main body of troops, but it is the best housing which could be provided.

It does not seem as if many civilians will stray into camp this year, for few will find it without guides. It is readily approachable from Jamestown if one is a good walker and takes the right direction, but excursionists are hardly expected to do this. To many of the troopers the tour of duty will seem more like a trip into some foreign country. They will be restricted to the walks along shore, and while there has been a request from some of the militiamen for the establishment of telephone service for their convenience this does not seem probable, as there are no extra wires available and those existing are for government use. Extra boat service to the fort has been provided by the quartermaster, but of course the general public cannot make use of this, as there are only limited accommodations.

The encampment is not likely to make much if any difference to Jamestown, except for the frequent appearance of commissary wagons, as the uniformed men seen about will be fewer than in ordinary times, except for the two coming Sundays, when at the noon hours there will be every semblance of an invasion. The two artillery corps of the state with all their luggage will land at the east ferry next Sunday, and on the following Sunday will depart from there, while in past years only half that number at the most marched through Jamestown. If the public is seeking a show it will turn out in great numbers to witness these displays.

ELEPHANTS AND HORSES.

Herd of Performing Pachyderms and a Big Equine Act With the Forepaugh and Sells Show.

The Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers show claims to have the best herd of performing elephants in the world. These monster pachyderms conduct a barber shop, play at tennis, form pyramids, eat at tables, telephone to each other and do other surprising acts. "Bolo," one of the largest elephants of the herd, walks around the ring holding up her right front foot, on which the trainer stands. The Forepaugh herd of elephants presents a performance which is doing excellent advertising for the circus. Along with the many features this year will come acrobats from the Old World and the new, giants, pigmies, beasts of the forest, strange birds and daring bareback riders.

The hundreds of horses are also a feature with the Forepaugh & Sells Brothers this season. The big high school horse act employs 81 animals to present this ensemble of horse actors.

PLAYGROUNDS IN OPERATION.

Three in Public School Yards—Cranston, Potter and Lenthal—Go Into Commission.

The playgrounds in the public school yards are in commission. A start was made this morning, with the boys' division in operation, and this afternoon the girls have their first inning. In connection with the playgrounds Superintendent Lull has issued the following circular:

Playgrounds—Cranston, Lenthal, Potter.

Boys, 9 to 12 o'clock, six days per week; girls, 2 to 5 o'clock, six days per week; men supervisors, 9 to 12 o'clock and 2 to 5 o'clock; women supervisors, 2 to 5 o'clock; men supervisors will have charge of the apparatus.

Swings, see-saw boards, flying rings, vaulting bar, settees, etc., must be stored in the basement at 5 o'clock p. m. and returned to place by 9 a. m.

Men will do "police" work, prevent disorder, loud noises, monopoly of the apparatus, and all offensive language and action. In case of necessity, the men supervisors may suspend boys and girls from use of the grounds or the apparatus. Men will also render assistance to the women supervisors.

Men will direct the boys in the use of the apparatus, start games, in every way possible promote the usefulness of the playground, and cause the children to have a "good time."

Women supervisors will have charge of the girls, direct them in the use of the apparatus, originate games and occupations, read and tell stories, and, in general, make the three hours profitable to the children.

The success of this playground movement will depend on the interest, energy and intelligent work of the supervisors. The School Committee expects the hearty co-operation of those in charge of the grounds.

The instructors are: Cranston, John T. Harrington, Jr., and Miss Gertrude R. Manchester; Potter, Stanley A. Ward and Miss Mary A. Harrington; Lenthal, Manuel J. Jennifel and Miss Margaret C. Connell. Miss Connell is teaching in the Coddington and Miss Harrington at the Carey school, so that both have the training to handle the girls in the afternoon; Miss Manchester is of this year's graduating class at the Rogers High School. The boys are all members of the Rogers High School, have given considerable attention to gymnastic work and are considered competent to handle the work and preserve order at the grounds.
